High St. Improvements Survey Aired by Council

First steps leading to street improvements along E. High St., were taken under consideration Tuesday night by Circleville Council.

Councilmen were confronted with the problem at the Oct. 4, meeting when several residents of the High St. area involved appeared before the council to request the improvements.

Mrs. Everett Stocklen, 146 E. High St., acted as spokesman for the group at the meeting earlier in the month. The group's primary objective was curbs and gutters along four properties where they do not exist. Other requested improvements included removing the street's high crown and subsequent paving and improved parking conditions.

In response to a request by W. H. Arledge, service director, the Columbus consulting engineering firm of Burgess and Niple, completed a survey of High St., from Pickaway to Court, and submitted it for preliminary review by the council.

THE consulting engineers' survey listed total costs of the E. High St. work at $11,300. The estimate did not include interest during construction or other costs that would be incurred if the work is done by assess-

The survey and estimate was reviewed by council, but was tabled until the next meeting, scheduled Nov. 6. The proposal will be studied further and action is expected at the November meeting.

Chief of Police Robert Temple recommended that Oct. 31, be observed as Halloween in the Circleville community. Chief Temple suggested that the traditional parade and trick-or-treat night be observed on this date. Council unanimously agreed with Temple on his recommendation.

In other action the city solicitor awarded a contract to Wolf and West Inc., local contractors, for the parking lot construction at Berger Hospital.

Only one ordinance gained passage by councilmen during the comparatively brief session Tuesday. The ordinance authorized the advertising of bids to purchase a new police cruiser.

The ordinance provides that the "lowest and best" bidder shall be determined on the basis of the trade-in allowance for a 1964 Dodge four-door sedan cruiser.

Frank Barnhill, finance chairman, informed council that $1,500 is due the city from Circleville School Board. Barnhill noted that the past due account is for services of the city health nurse.

Ralph Starkey Named Head Of County Children's Home

Ralph Starkey, 498 Edward Road, has been named superintendent of the Pickaway County Home, replacing Winfield Koch, who served in the capacity for 20 years.

A former probation officer, Starkey will assume his new post Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Judson Price of Spencer, W. Va., have been offered a position as resident house parents according to Mrs. Helen Hedges, chairman of the Child Welfare Board.

Starkey resigned as a member of the Child Welfare Board to apply for the position.

MRS. BARBARA Harrison, 312 Northside Road, was named by Judge Guy Cline as the juvenile court's representative on the board.

Mrs. Harrison and Pastor Carl Zehner, recently named to the board by the Pickaway County Commissioners, attended Monday's session of the board.

Other members of the board are Mrs. George Hamman III, and Harry Kern.

Patrol To Adopt Uniform Ticket

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Highway Patrol will adopt a uniform traffic ticket effective Jan. 1, Patrol Supt. Robert M. Chiaramonte announced today.

He said the uniform ticket will result in more accurate filing and reporting of accidents and facilitate handling of cases in courts.

Chiaramonte said the ticket will help the officer by enabling him to complete all forms necessary to effect an arrest, file a charge, and record pertinent details of the arrest all in one operation at the scene.

Violators, through use of the uniform ticket, will have an exact knowledge of the charge being filed against him and of the details supporting the charge, the superintendent said.

Several municipalities in Ohio already are using uniform tickets.

MR. AND MRS. Winfield Koch completed 20 years of service at the home on the first day of September this year.

The couple resigned late this summer but agreed to remain at the home until the board was able to employ a new superintendent.

Koch, as superintendent, received a salary of $250 a month. Mrs. Koch, who served as matron, had a salary of $230 a month. They lived at the home.

Early in the summer the Child Welfare board met with county commissioners asking an increase in salary for county home employees, including the Kochs. Commissioners turned down the request.

Monday, Commissioners granted the board a request for an additional $2,000 to be transferred to the salary and compensation employee fund of the child welfare board.

Koch, who took a position as dispatcher with the Ohio State Highway Patrol shortly after he submitted his resignation, will continue in that capacity. He also will devote his time to operation of a filling station he and his son, Roger, own south of town.

MRS. KOCH plans to put her training as a beautician to use. "We have liked our work here real well," Mrs. Koch said today. "But we felt that 20 years was long enough for us to serve."

Court Orders Delay in Rail Merger

Will Hinge on Pennsy, NYC Combo Hearing in January

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has blocked the planned Nov. 1 merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads pending the hearing of arguments on Jan. 9 and a final decision on various objections.

The merger thus will be delayed at least until mid-January, and probably much later depending on how fast the high tribunal can reach a decision and prepare its opinion or opinions.

The merger would create the nation's largest rail system with assets of more than $4 billion and nearly 20,000 miles of track.

The court issued a two-page printed statement Tuesday announcing its grant of a stay as requested by a group of railroads, eight Pennsylvania and New Jersey towns and Milton J. Shapp, Democratic candidate for governor of Pennsylvania.

They asked the stay after a special three-judge federal court in New York refused by a 2-1 vote Oct. 4 to delay the merger plan. The Interstate Commerce Commission last April 27 approved the merger.

But the agency has scheduled hearings beginning Oct. 31 on the still unsettled financial conditions to be imposed.

Neddy Said Very Tame

TOTNES, England (AP) — Constable Kenneth Harper said he spotted the small car going down the main street of Totnes, with "the backside and tail of an animal very close to the driver."

"On causing the defendant to stop," he told the court Tuesday, "I confirmed my suspicion that the animal was a donkey."

The driver, Peter Cox, principal of an art school, was accused of not having proper control of his small French car from which the front passenger seat had been removed to make space for the donkey.

Cox denied the charge. He said the donkey was a family pet named Neddy and very tame. He added that Mrs. Cox, sitting on the back seat, had a firm hold on Neddy's halter.

The verdict: Not guilty.

Webb Is Eulogized

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Actor Clifton Webb, 76, was eulogized as a man who hated arrogance and pomposity, characteristics he displayed to perfection on the movie screen.

Funeral services for Webb who died Thursday after a heart attack, were attended Tuesday by 150 mourners at All Saints Episcopal Church.

The program will begin Jan. 1, Alan Guttmacher, told the group at its 50th anniversary banquet Tuesday night.

He said President Johnson "has defined U.S. policy in this crucial area and has used his leadership to implement it."

Johnson was the organization's Margaret Sanger Award winner for this year.

7 Ministers Offer To Quit

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's on-again-off-again political crisis exploded again today as seven southern civilian Cabinet members insisted today that Premier Nguyen Cao Ky accept their resignations immediately.

The dissident ministers' action appeared to doom efforts by Ky to patch up a facade of unity for the Manila conference on Viet Nam next week. He was expected to minimize the significance of the crisis at the Manila meeting but he will be unable to hide the fact that South Viet Nam is still wracked by unresolved political pains.

"There have been many crises," Ky told newsmen earlier this week. "One more or less doesn't make any difference."

But an announcement of the ministers' resignations, attributed to high government officials, also contained statements that could prove highly embarrassing to Ky at Manila and provide Communist North Viet Nam and the Viet Cong with propaganda fodder.

The ministers said they were concerned that South Viet Nam "is becoming a police state," that the military should "stop poking their noses into business they know nothing about," and that they had demanded "the government show some signs of accomplishing something to better the life of the people in general."

The dissident ministers, who said they put their resignations on Ky's desk this morning, included Deputy Premier Nguyen Luu Vien, and Finance Minister Au Truong Thanh, both members of South Viet Nam's delegation to the Manila meeting.

The crisis stems from resentment by South Vietnamese natives in the Cabinet against domination of the government by men from North Viet Nam who came south after the Communists took over in 1954.

Ky and most of the military men who hold the real power are northerners. Civilians in the Cabinet, including most of the southerners, have been confined largely to administrative roles.

Quick Increase Effort Falls Short

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chances for a quick increase in Social Security benefits died today when the House Ways and Means Committee gave up efforts to draw a bill for enactment by the present Congress.

However, Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D - Ark., told newsmen Social Security will be the first item of business for the committee when the new Congress convenes in January.

Mills also said it would be possible for the committee to make the effective date of any increased benefits retroactive to Jan. 1, 1967, although he did not say this would necessarily be done.

The committee had before it two proposals for Social Security benefit increases effective on that date, a year earlier than the effective date suggested by President Johnson for extensive overhaul and liberalization of the system.

Pumpkin Tidbits

Mrs. Minnie Heise, 311 E. Main St., is an avid devotee of Pumpkin Show. In all its 60 years she has never missed the festival. Mrs. Heise, who is 96 years old, takes off from home in time for the afternoon parade and returns whenever she feels like it. One thing for sure they know at home that she's having a good time.

Mrs. Max Cormany, 145 Maple, Ashville, is heading the Hedges Chapel Pumpkin Show booth. She was on the job, rain or no rain Tuesday morning helping assemble things there.

Speaking of Pumpkin Shows of the past in one of the baby parades Willison Leist and Wilbur Pontius vied for honors. Pontius came out ahead, according to his mother, who still has his blue ribbon. Willie was runner up and came in second.

Mrs. Nelson Jones, Tarlton, wanted to know if the flower show schedule which read "In-curved and reflexed" five inches and over" meant a five inch stem. No, a few people grow chrysanthemums that are five inches and more in diameter.

Mrs. Floyd Younk is cutting a Georgia vacation short in order to make Pumpkin Show this year. She will preside as usual at the trailer from Greenlawn Park that is stationed in front of the Children's Shop on W. Main St.

Dorothy Jonnes, proprietor of the Children's shop, says that she is "welcoming home" several concessionaires who set up stands in the vicinity each year. As of Tuesday noon the "candy lady" and the "foot long hot dog" lady had dropped in to say "howdy" as well as the trailer folks.

The lady in the alcove at the flower show representing Mrs. Pumpkin Show, 1903, looked far too modern even if she did have an old fashioned dress. It was her modish hair-do the committee decided. The finally gave her a sunbonnet. The lady incidentally is churning, one of the ordinary household tasks in that era.

Rhodes Seeks Federal Funds

Plan Would Benefit Families on Welfare

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes requested federal approval today of a plan which would permit Ohio public assistance families to supplement their income by working.

Rhodes said in a letter to Secretary John W. Gardner of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare that the plan has been stymied by provisions of the Social Security Act.

He requested Gardner to waive the provisions so the program already tried on a pilot basis in Cleveland's Hough area can proceed on a statewide basis.

The governor noted that the "incentive budgeting" plan was approved by the 106th General Assembly "without a dissenting vote." Under the plan, recipients of public assistance may earn the difference between their aid payments of 100 percent of minimum standards.

"The merit of such a plan has been demonstrated in the Hough area of Cleveland, but federal officials have so far refused to approve extending the plan to the state as a whole," Rhodes said.

Airline Deal Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House approved today the purchase by Braniff Airways of Pan American-Grace Airways — Panagra.

Including servicemen abroad, Civil Aeronautics Board order approving an agreement for Braniff to buy Panagra from its equal co-owners, Pan American World Airways and W. R. Grace & Co.

Weather Looks Brighter for Rest of Show

Rhodes Says Festival Is Factor in Luring Visitors to State

The weatherman frowned a little on the opening of the 60th annual Pumpkin Show today, but the outlook for the remainder of the festival looks brighter.

Cloudy skies were no deterrent to the many Pumpkin Show fans that started arriving in town by mid-morning awaiting the official opening at 2 p. m.

According to all officials connected with the 1966 show, everything was in order by noon including the midway, exhibits and displays.

The Rev. Eugene Flowers, pastor of the First EUB Church, and Circleville Mayor Ben H. Gordon were to preside at the ceremonies "rain or shine."

AT NOON the business district came to life with the sounds of merriment! Concessionaires were chanting to passersby of all ages.

Police Pounce On Two Robbers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When a market was robbed of $850 Tuesday a police helicopter and 29 patrol cars roared after two men who had fled on foot after abandoning their getaway car.

One man was quickly caught, but the other eluded officers long enough to knock on a door and ask a housewife if he could use her telephone.

He called a cab. But officers said they caught him an hour later with most of the loot.

Air Attack Halt Challenge Hurlled At Hanoi Regime

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States called on North Viet Nam Tuesday night to spell out what it would do if U. S. air attacks on the Communist state are called off.

U. S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg posed the challenge in the closing minutes of the General Assembly's marathon policy debate which has centered on the war in Viet Nam.

Replying to Communist and nonaligned member states who have been calling for a halt in the bombing as an essential preliminary to any peace negotiations, Goldberg said:

Nurses Okay Compromise Wage Plan

CHICAGO (AP) — A compromise wage agreement with some 350 practical nurses at Cook County Hospital Tuesday night ended a two-day sick-call boycott.

The nurses were to report to work today.

Robert J. Mackie, executive director of the Cook County Nursing School, said terms of the agreement would not be made known until all the nurses involved are informed of the provisions.

The terms were agreed upon by officials of the nursing school and a committee representing the Licensed Practical Nurses Association.

Most of the nurses telephoned in sick on the morning shift Monday. All 346 reported sick by the midnight shift, three nurses reported to work Tuesday, Mackie said.

During the boycott, only emergency patients were admitted to the 2,747-bed hospital, which officials say is the nation's largest public hospital. Maternity cases were sent elsewhere.

The 600 registered nurses worked double shifts and days off during the boycott.

The nurses demanded wage increases from beginning monthly salaries of $332 to $425. Increases to $405 were offered by the Nursing School Board, which contracted with the Cook County Board of Commissioners to provide nursing personnel for the hospital.

The registered nurses, after threatening mass resignations, were granted $90 pay increases in September.

The practical nurses work in obstetric and pediatric sections and in recovery wards of the hospital.

Reds Show Pictures of Yank Pilots

TOKYO (AP) — North Viet Nam today released pictures of three men who it said were U.S. pilots shot down during raids into North Viet Nam in the past two months.

Hanoi's Viet Nam News Agency identified the pilots in a caption as:

—Hubert E. Buchanan, 25, Lt. (j.g.) U.S. Navy, service number FV 3148, shot down Sept. 16 while flying an F4.

The Defense Department announced Sept. 19 that Air Force Lt. Hubert E. Buchanan was missing in action.

—U.S. Air Force Capt. Norman Louross Wells, 33, 355th Tactical Air Wing, shot down and captured in Quang Binh Province Aug. 12.

—Capt. Donald Glenn Waltman, shot down and captured Sept. 19 while flying an F105 over Ha Bac.

Local GE Not Effectuated by Logan Strike

The members of Local 1017, Flint Glass Workers (AFL-CIO) went on strike at the Logan General Electric plant yesterday.

The Logan plant supplies Circleville's lamp plant with glass in the production of lamps.

E. G. Grigg, local plant manager, said today the Logan strike will have no immediate effect on the local operation.

The local plant has on hand a supply of the various glasses provided by Logan.

Members of the union at Logan voted 95-21 to turn down the offer approved at a national bargaining session.

Both union and Logan GE officials have indicated the primary issue is community pay rates.

The strike is the first at the GE Glass Plant since it was constructed in 1949.

Germans Defy Red Barriers

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Two couples with their six children and a grandmother have engineered a family escape from Communist east Germany, Bavarian police reported today.

The children are aged 1 to 12 years. The two youngest were given sleeping tablets and carried across the border into West Germany in rucksacks on the backs of their fathers, police said.

The escape, on a foggy night, was made by crawling across a minefield "death strip" on planks of wood. As the families came to the end of one plank, a second was gently pushed forward to probe for any mines. They then crawled on. After the minefield the fathers cut their way through a barbed wire barrier.

"The good Lord was with us, the fences were not electrified," said one of the fathers.

Police also reported the escape today of a 32-year-old Czechoslovakian army officer who had been on duty along the border between East and West Germany.

Oil Boom Predicted

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Another Ohio oil boom may be in the making, this time on the Stark-Carroll County line near Magnolia, the Akron Beacon Journal said today.

Nearly all of a two-square-mile area has been quietly leased by a few oil companies in the past few months, according to Karl Merrick, an inspector for the state Division of Oil and Gas.

"Next summer there's going to be a boom," Merrick said. "It will move into Stark and Tuscarawas counties."

At least 30 wells have been drilled so far, the newspaper said, with production varying between 40 and 180 barrels a day. The national average is 12 barrels a day, the Beacon Journal said.

Self-Alleged Coed Killer Is Cleared

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A 26-year-old inmate of an Oklahoma jail, who confessed to the slaying of a Columbus business college coed, has been ruled out of any involvement in the 1962 murder.

"We don't believe he was connected with the crime," said Police Lt. Francis Smith, one of two Columbus detectives who went to Oklahoma City following Herbert A. Golightly's confession.

"He doesn't know enough about it," Smith said Tuesday, adding, "he has a certain bit of information, but on key points were certain he doesn't have the answers."

Golightly had volunteered a statement about the slaying of Mary Margaret Andrews, but hecks showed he apparently was confined in the Huntsville, Tex., Prison at the time of the crime.

Little Miss and Miss Pumpkin Show: parades that traditionally highlight the opening day's calendar of events.

Ohio Governor James A. Rhodes took the occasion of the Pumpkin Show opening to declare the Circleville festival a factor in luring visitors from 11 foreign countries to the United States this year.

The Pumpkin Show, billed as the oldest and largest of Ohio's festivals, annually attracts thousands of visitors to the Pickaway County Seat. Somewhere in the neighborhood of 300,000 will visit here before the week is over.

Rhodes said the show and other similar Ohio festivals, shows and pageants make up one-sixth of the 150 festivals in this country that are publicized in 42 countries by the U. S. travel service.

News Briefs

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Rev. Ian Paisley, leader of Northern Ireland's Protestant extremists, was released from Belfast jail today after serving a three-month term for refusing to keep the peace.

He told a crowd of about 100 outside the jail to come back Thursday morning at 9 o'clock "for a real good Protestant rally on the steps of the prison."

After a riot when his Protestant supporters marched but he has much wider support among other Ulstermen who fear the increasing influence of Roman Catholicism.

After a riot when his Protestant supporters marched through a Catholic section of the city and staged demonstrations outside the annual assembly of the Irish Presbyterian Church, Paisley was fined and ordered to put up a two-year peace bond. He refused to put up the bond and was jailed. His supporters paid the $84 fine.

TOKYO (AP) — Chinese Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung reviewed 1.5 million youthful Red Guards — the muscles behind China's "cultural revolution" — in a pointed rebuff Tuesday to Soviet bloc criticism of the movement.

The cheering youths lined a 17-mile route to Peking's Gate of Heavenly Peace Square to salute the 72-year-old Mao and his No. 2 man, Defense Minister Lin Biao, the New China News Agency reported.

The report made no mention of any speeches. Mao, hatless and in military uniform, was described as looking "very fit."

LONDON (AP) — The Tower of London, the ancient depository of Britain's crown jewels, was robbed Tuesday night of $7,000.

Charles Mahadeo, 31, a government clerk, told police the thief walked into a fourth-floor office in the Lanthorn Tower, knocked him semiconscious and made off with the day's take from tourists.

The priceless crown jewels are kept in a supposedly thief-proof vault in the Wakefield Tower.

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) — The transatlantic liners Queen Elizabeth and the France were among 12 big ships unable to berth here today because of a strike by tug crews.

The 83,000-ton queen Elizabeth headed for Cherbourg. The France went to Le Havre. The passengers were expected by channel ferries later today.

Peru City Looks Toward Recovery

CALLAO, Peru (AP) — It took nature only 55 seconds to strike the Peruvian port of Callao a blow from which it won't recover for years.

At 4:42 p.m. Monday, Callao was bustling with the activity that goes with being Peru's major seaport and the maritime gateway to Lima, seven miles to the east.

By 4:53, the shock wave from a massive earthquake a few miles offshore had struck the city with unbelievable force and 32 persons were dead or dying. Most were children crushed when roofs of the makeshift huts in the slums known as barriadas collapsed.

More than 70 persons were hospitalized. Another 250 had minor injuries.

Glass, plaster and walls of buildings tumbled into the streets or collapsed inward, trapping some residents.

Panic spread, then mounted as a rumor flashed through the city that a tidal wave was rushing toward the coast. There was a tidal wave, but it headed out into the Pacific, not inland and dissipated.

Pedestrians were warned away from buildings with gaping cracks in the walls along the main street. Homeowners and shopkeepers swept up glass and plaster and piled debris at the curb to wait the refuse trucks.

Life was returning to normal today. But the cracks in the buildings remained, foretelling widespread demolition that will be necessary as the damage is catalogued.

The quake was Peru's most savage in years. By unofficial count, 101 were killed and 1,000 injured, but casualty reports were incomplete. The U.S. Embassy in Lima said no Americans were among the killed or injured.

Jet Engine Workers Back, But Problems Still Loom

CINCINNATI (AP) — Under orders of a federal injunction, some 6,300 employees of the General Electric Co.'s jet engine plant in suburban Evendale were back at work today. But union leaders predicted another strike unless there is a sharp change in negotiations.

The return-to-work began shortly before midnight Tuesday during a change in the third shift. A company spokesman said there were no incidents.

The workers, who struck Sunday were forced to return after a temporary injunction was issued under the Taft-Hartley Act. It was issued by Federal Judge Carl A. Winman in Dayton at the request of government attorneys acting on orders of President Johnson.

The White House had said the jet engines produced at the Evendale plant were vital for use in I-Vet Nam. Defense Secretary Robert McNamara said a prolonged strike would result in an irretrievable loss of time in the supply of jet engines and spare parts and that it could imperil national safety.

The International Association of Machinists and United Auto Workers struck Sunday night, saying local issues were involved.

The injunction calls for an 80-day cooling off period as negotiators try to settle the issue. A meeting between company and union officials was scheduled today.

"Unless real negotiations take place during the next 80 days, GE at Evendale will be closed again," said Arnold Tucker, business representative for Local 192, IAM.

William E. Gurnes, business representative for UAW Local 647, said the injunction "is just postponing the inevitable unless there is a decided change in the company's approach to bargaining."

The union leaders said the issues include alleged unsettled individual grievances, job classifications and use of salaried help on union jobs.

Charles T. Ohmer, manager of union relations for GE, said, "we are fully aware of our obligations under the injunction. We feel the strike was unnecessary in the first place. We have been meeting with the UAW and IAM and will continue meeting with them to conclude negotiations."

The short walkout did not close the huge plant as some 8,000 other employees, nonmembers of the IAM and UAW, continued to work.

The investigating officer on his report noted that Hamilton was in violation of the reckless operation statute, but he was not cited to appear in court since he was the only person involved in the wreck.

His list of injuries sustained should have been lacerations of both legs instead of fractures.

Air Attack Halt Challenge Hurlled At Hanoi Regime

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States called on North Viet Nam Tuesday night to spell out what it would do if U. S. air attacks on the Communist state are called off.

U. S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg posed the challenge in the closing minutes of the General Assembly's marathon policy debate which has centered on the war in Viet Nam.

Replying to Communist and nonaligned member states who have been calling for a halt in the bombing as an essential preliminary to any peace negotiations, Goldberg said:

Nurses Okay Compromise Wage Plan

CHICAGO (AP) — A compromise wage agreement with some 350 practical nurses at Cook County Hospital Tuesday night ended a two-day sick-call boycott.

The nurses were to report to work today.

Robert J. Mackie, executive director of the Cook County Nursing School, said terms of the agreement would not be made known until all the nurses involved are informed of the provisions.

The terms were agreed upon by officials of the nursing school and a committee representing the Licensed Practical Nurses Association.

Most of the nurses telephoned in sick on the morning shift Monday. All 346 reported sick by the midnight shift, three nurses reported to work Tuesday, Mackie said.

During the boycott, only emergency patients were admitted to the 2,747-bed hospital, which officials said is the nation's largest public hospital. Maternity cases were sent elsewhere.

The 600 registered nurses worked double shifts and days off during the boycott.

The nurses demanded wage increases from beginning monthly salaries of $352 to $425. Increases to $405 were offered by the Nursing School Board, which contracted with the Cook County Board of Commissioners to provide nursing personnel for the hospital.

The registered nurses, after threatening mass resignations, were granted $90 pay increases in September.

The practical nurses work in obstetric and pediatric sections and in recovery wards of the hospital.

Displacement of wall material in the older crater is clearly visible. The photo covers an area about 43 miles by 52 miles. The large crater is 31 miles across, the smaller 25. ## Alabama Sheriff Candidate Feels Vote Gimmick Legal SELMA, Ala., (AP) — A judge's decision on the admissibility of ballots in a voting recount knocked Sheriff James G. Clark out of nomination in the Democratic primary last May.

In a curious twist, Clark now is relying on that decision to help re-elect him on Nov. 8.

Clark is running as a write-in candidate against Democratic nominee Wilson Baker in next month's general election. And he's using the judge's own words to justify a campaign gimmick aimed at getting more votes.

Once again Dallas County voters must choose between a sheriff who became a national symbol of segregationist resistance and a onetime Selma police official who challenged Clark's policy of mass arrests during the civil rights turmoil last year.

Thousands of tiny gummed

stickers labeled "James G. (Jim) Clark for Sheriff" are being distributed throughout the country in the hope that voters who might not take the trouble to write in the sheriff's name will paste the stickers on the ballots.

That's where the decision handed down last May 24 by U.S. District Court Judge Daniel H. Thomas comes into the picture.

State law governing write-in votes in a general election says the voter can "write in" on a blank column the name of anyone who isn't on the ballot. An attorney general's advisory opinion issued in 1954 said, "The voter must personally write the candidate's name on the ballot."

Clark says his lawyers have told him that Judge Thomas' decision prohibits throwing out a ballot on a technicality.

Ironically, it was the sheriff who sought to keep 1,700 ballots from being counted in the Democratic primary last May 3 on the grounds that six ballot boxes had been left unwatched and that there was evidence of irregularities. The ballots came mostly from Negro sections of Selma.

All but about 300 of the 1,700 votes were for Baker, enough to give him the Democratic nomination. But the county Democratic Executive Committee ordered the disputed votes thrown out, leaving Baker shy of a majority in a four-man race and facing a runoff with Clark.

The U.S. Justice Department took the dispute into court and Thomas ordered the challenged ballots counted.

In his written decree, the judge said no irregularities were found except the "failure to comply with technical procedures" of the state's election laws, and added:

"There shall be no rejection of any ballot... on any ground other than that the ballot does not reflect the intention of a qualified voter."

That, says Clark, means ballots with the write-in stickers pasted on may be accepted.

Until last week, it appeared that the heavy Negro vote in Dallas County which has increased twentyfold since the civil rights struggle began early in 1965—might be split between Baker and a Negro candidate Samson Crum Sr. but Crum withdrew because, he said, he concluded he could not win.

Thus once again, the Negro vote may be the deciding factor, Baker received most of it in the party election.

New Plane Bid Awarded Ohio Plant

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new contract award for production of OV-10A counter-insurgency aircraft for the U.S. Armed Forces shapes up as a major shot in the arm for central Ohio's economy.

The award, announced by the Navy acting for both the Marine Corps and Air Force, goes to North American Aviation Inc.'s Columbus plant. It amounts to $60.4 million.

The plane, described as an "airborne equivalent of the jeep" and designed for Viet Nam style combat, had been developed by NAA Columbus in prototype form under a previous $20.1 million contract.

Now North American is to make 76 of the OV-10A craft for the Marines and 109 for the Air Force.

A light armed reconnaissance plane, the OV-10A also is expected to be used in support of ground troops and helicopters.

Alabama Sheriff Candidate Feels Vote Gimmick Legal

SELMA, Ala., (AP) — A judge's decision on the admissibility of ballots in a voting recount knocked Sheriff James G. Clark out of nomination in the Democratic primary last May.

In a curious twist, Clark now is relying on that decision to help re-elect him on Nov. 8.

Clark is running as a write-in candidate against Democratic nominee Wilson Baker in next month's general election. And he's using the judge's own words to justify a campaign gimmick aimed at getting more votes.

Once again Dallas County voters must choose between a sheriff who became a national symbol of segregationist resistance and a onetime Selma police official who challenged Clark's policy of mass arrests during the civil rights turmoil last year.

Thousands of tiny gummed

stickers labeled "James G. (Jim) Clark for Sheriff" are being distributed throughout the country in the hope that voters who might not take the trouble to write in the sheriff's name will paste the stickers on the ballots.

That's where the decision handed down last May 24 by U.S. District Court Judge Daniel H. Thomas comes into the picture.

State law governing write-in votes in a general election says the voter can "write in" on a blank column the name of anyone who isn't on the ballot. An attorney general's advisory opinion issued in 1954 said, "The voter must personally write the candidate's name on the ballot...."

Clark says his lawyers have told him that Judge Thomas' decision prohibits throwing out a ballot on a technicality.

Ironically, it was the sheriff who sought to keep 1,700 ballots from being counted in the Democratic primary last May 3 on the grounds that six ballot boxes had been left unwatched and that there was evidence of irregularities. The ballots came mostly from Negro sections of Selma.

All but about 300 of the 1,700 votes were for Baker, enough to give him the Democratic nomination. But the county Democratic Executive Committee ordered the disputed votes thrown out, leaving Baker shy of a majority in a four-man race and facing a runoff with Clark.

The U.S. Justice Department took the dispute into court and Thomas ordered the challenged ballots counted.

In his written decree, the judge said no irregularities were found except the "failure to comply with technical procedures" of the state's election laws, and added:

"There shall be no rejection of any ballot...on any ground other than that the ballot does not reflect the intention of a qualified voter."

That, says Clark, means ballots with the write-in stickers pasted on may be accepted.

Until last week, it appeared that the heavy Negro vote in Dallas County which has increased twentyfold since the civil rights struggle began early in 1965—might be split between Baker and a Negro candidate Samson Crum Sr. but Crum withdrew because, he said, he concluded he could not win.

Thus once again, the Negro vote may be the deciding factor, Baker received most of it in the party election.

New Plane Bid Awarded Ohio Plant

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new contract award for production of OV-10A counter-insurgency aircraft for the U.S. Armed Forces shapes up as a major shot in the arm for central Ohio's economy.

The award, announced by the Navy acting for both the Marine Corps and Air Force, goes to North American Aviation Inc.'s Columbus plant. It amounts to $60.4 million.

The plane, described as an "airborne equivalent of the jeep" and designed for Viet Nam style combat, had been developed by NAA Columbus in prototype form under a previous $20.1 million contract.

Now North American is to make 76 of the OV-10A craft for the Marines and 109 for the Air Force.

A light armed reconnaissance plane, the OV-10A also is expected to be used in support of ground troops and helicopters.

A Good Idea

A Kansas congressman, Rep. Garner Shriver, has introduced legislation calling for a select investigating committee under minority control.

The committee would function only when the executive and legislative branches of the government are controlled by the same political party. It would have 15 members, appointed by the speaker. Eight would be of the minority party and seven from the majority party.

Its duties would be to determine whether federal laws are being enforced and administered in accordance with their intent; whether departments and agencies conduct their operations economically and efficiently; whether these consult with other departments and agencies with related responsibilities, and whether the various arms of the federal government are supplying full and accurate information to the public as required by law.

The complexity of the federal bureaucracy, which would make the proposed committee's work so difficult and time-consuming, would also argue in favor of its creation. The party in power usually is bent upon convincing everyone that all is well in the best of possible worlds. And too frequently the minority party does not live up to its historic function of investigation and objection.

It would be good to have a congressional committee expressly charged with the responsibility of being a watchdog. And if the majority party paid little attention to its findings, the public would.

The Business World

By John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Hot money, cold noses and frozen instead of liquid assets is the way one New York banker described the situation that closed Intra Bank, Lebanon's largest.

This explanation skirts the motives, which could include Arab politics, or the reason for the too-late action by the bank, which could have resulted from an internal squabble that paralyzed decision making.

Hot money, in the parlance of banking, means cash that seeks out the highest interest rates regardless of many other factors. It moves forward of a point; it is big money and can make big profits from small fractions.

The cold nose helps sniff out the best rates. Intra had been paying high rates. But interest has been rising everywhere recently. Others matched Intra. Perhaps, in the depositors' views, other banks offered more security, too.

This was a situation that many banks could have lived with if they had been liquid; that is, if they could have quickly converted their assets into cash to meet sudden withdrawal demands.

Intra, however, reportedly had much of its assets tied up in Lebanese and foreign real estate and industry. It couldn't quickly convert them to cash. And if it tried, its desperation would be detected. The prices for its assets would drop.

"In other words," said the banker, "they committed the cardinal sin in banking: they borrowed short and they lent long." They had no long-term hold on their depositors' money; but they invested these deposits for a long period.

Although Intra may be a special situation, it is tied to the current instability in world money.

Intra might have been able to remain open if money weren't tight. But money is in great demand. It isn't easily available anywhere now. The sheikhs, who have it, could be choosy.

Why is this? Inflation has caused a profits squeeze for many corporations, thus preventing them from using their own money for expansion. They have been borrowing. Then, credit controls have lowered the money supply.

Another factor is the U.S. balance of payments situation. In order to check the outflow of dollars, many American corporations expanding in Europe have raised money there instead of domestically.

The problem facing Lebanon now is to "encapsulate" Intra, to isolate the infection, to cut off Intra from the rest of the economy. Another possibility is to sell the bank to a large organization with liquid assets.

This might be hard on those with claims against the bank, but they have little choice. Intra reportedly has assets of $230 million and claims of only $170 million. Eventually, everyone might get his money.

The Central Bank of Lebanon then must watch for a run on other banks as they reopen Thursday. If nobody demands return of their deposits nothing may need to be done.

Worth Celebrating?

By John Chamberlain

This coming week - end is the tenth anniversary of the brave but unsuccessful Hungarian Revolution of 1956. By all the rules of decency the Administration should be pulling out the stops to help the escaped survivors to make it the great celebration of the decade. Though the Revolution was crushed in blood by 200,000 Soviet troops moving against Budapest behind 2,500 tanks, it did manage to serve notice on Moscow that "bad better tread lightly in the further in dealing with discontent in the captive East European nations.

The 63,000 Hungarian deported revolutionaries who still languish in prison camps in Central Asia can take some comfort in knowing that they are a reminder to Janos Kadar, Moscow's stooge ruler in Budapest, that too open a tyranny might provoke a second uprising.

Unfortunately, the attempts of the escaped Hungarians to honor the 30,000 who died in the street battles of 1956 seem to have run smack up against the desire of the Administration to work out an East European economic deal with the Soviets in return for help in bringing the North Vietnamese to the peace table. The captive nations organizations get only half-hearted recognition in Washington. All sorts of extra propitiatory olive branches seem to be waving in odd places to tempt Moscow to act as a self-serving broker in negotiations. Even the hapless deal that partitioned Laos is mentioned as a worthy model. One can understand the pressure on President Lyndon Johnson to extricate the U.S. from the most unpopular war it has ever fought. But what is being done behind the scenes to gain concessions for freedom in eastern Europe as part of any two-front world deal with Moscow to bring an end to the Vietnamese struggle? Does Lyndon Johnson know that a high-level bargain with the Soviets on Vietnam might leave things in such a state behind the East European Iron Curtain that no net gain for freedom will result even though a semi-satisfactory conclusion in written to the war in Southeast Asia?

The fact is that concentration camps still exist in Hungary despite all reassurances that Dachau and Auschwitz are things of the past. A harrowing letter written to the International Red Cross in Geneva, Switzerland, by a German who was himself an inmate of the Hangos prison camp in Hungary tells of the mistreatment of seven West German captives by guards who rival the Nazis in their calculated inhumanity. The German got himself incarcerated by becoming involved in a traffic accident.

A second concentration camp permit the South Vietnamese Budapest, has been vouched for to Dr. Bela Fabian of the Hungarian Freedom Fighters by an Austrian citizen of former Hungarian nationality. This Austrian citizen spent fourteen months in Barachka. And there is still another camp at Bernatuk near Budapest which is guarded by North Korean soldiers. Apparently the Kadar government does not trust either Hungarian or Muscovite soldiers to do all of its dirty work in keeping political prisoners incarcerated.

These are things that should be concerning Washington in its efforts to build bridges to eastern Europe. This column is not against relaxing tensions, or trying to end the slaughter in Vietnam on a basis that will permit the South Vietnamese to work out their own salvation without being overrun by Hanoi or Red Chinese Communists. But if the bridges to the east are to last, the foundation must be firm at both ends. A one-sided peace that will leave the Communists free to turn South Vietnam into another Laos and permit Moscow to fasten a tougher clamp on the East European satellites will only make the next "limited" war a bit worse than the present one.

These are the things that should be talked about on this tenth anniversary of the Hungarian revolt. Washington should be encouraging the Hungarians to raise such issues. It should beware of trying to end the Vietnam War with a Yalta-like deal that would extend the boundaries of Communism without changing a thing behind the boundaries that already exist. We have had enough of adding still another one to a shameful list.

LAFF-A-DAY

"I wish you'd get her hair cut. She's beginning to look more like a boy every day!"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A YOUNG BUILDER had just gone into business for himself and a wealthy old friend of his father told him, "To get you started right, I'm going to let you build me this ranch house. Here are the plans. Now don't skimp on anything. I want the very best materials used. Forget the costs. Just send me the bills."

The greedy young builder wasn't satisfied with this generous gesture and instead of employing top-grade labor and buying the finest materials, he short-changed his benefactor in every possible way. Finally the last second-hand nail had been driven into the last flimsy wall, and the builder handed over the keys and bills totaling a round $70,000 to his father's old friend. That gentleman promptly wrote out a check and handed the keys back to the builder. "That house you just built, my boy," he said with a hearty laugh, "is my present to you. It's all yours. May you live in it in happiness for the rest of your life."

During a cold snap at Fort Dix last November, the heating plant broke down, and after shivering for several hours, several new draftees mustered sufficient courage to complain to their tough top sergeant. "What do you need heat for?" bellowed that worthy. "It's only down to twenty degrees outside." "But it's fifteen inside the barracks," wailed one trainee. "Okay," grunted the sergeant. "OPEN THE WINDOWS!"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LEONARD L. COLEMAN, M.D.

What are the causes of a tubal pregnancy? Is this a frequent occurrence?

A tubal, or ectopic, pregnancy occurs when the fertilized egg is caught in the tube leading to the womb. Even though the fallopian tube is a narrow one it sometimes distends and may house the developing embryo for a few weeks.

The most common reasons are some previous inflammation of the tube causing narrowing or curvature. More rarely, some birth defect may kink the tube and prevent the passage of the egg in the adult. Adhesions from previous surgery is a less likely but a suspected reason.

Tubal pregnancy can occur in the absence of any of these reasons and the cause remains unknown. It is said to happen in about one out of four or 500 pregnancies. Tubal pregnancies usually terminate by the third to the sixth week and must be recognized immediately to avoid any of the serious complications of this unusual condition. Early surgery is important when the symptoms of ectopic pregnancy appear.

Is exercise beneficial for varicose veins?

When once varicose veins are recognized there are already definite changes and weaknesses within the thin muscles that line the veins. These changes are not reversible by exercise. With proper support and positional exercises the condition may be kept in control and perhaps prevented from extending.

Sometimes a specific cause for unusual varicose veins can be found, when it is treated, the varicose veins may improve. Generally it can be stated that exercise in some form and in moderation is beneficial to all people. Before undertaking any exercise program, especially if there is any major medical problem, consultation with a physician is imperative.

Goal Was To Be Teen-Ager

NEW YORK (AP) — It was her 13th birthday.

For years her big goal in life had been to become a teen-ager. And now it had happened to her, and Mother and Dad wanted to make it memorable.

And they thought they had done everything in their power. For they wanted it to be a big day for them as well as for their daughter.

They decided to give her the presents before they went out for the evening. Dad handed her his present first.

The girl opened the envelope and drew out a birthday greeting card and a $100 bill. Her face flushed in surprise, and then she studied the portrait on the bill carefully.

"Benjamin Franklin was never president of the United States," she said suspiciously.

"Nevertheless, it's a $100 bill," said Dad. "It's to start the fund for that trip to France you want to make sometime."

"Oh," said the girl. She put the bill away in her room and returned and opened her mother's present.

It was a delicate gold charm bracelet. The girl silently put it on.

"Tomorrow we can go and pick out your first charm for it," said mother.

"Okay," said the girl. There was a pause, and she said, "Well, shall we go now?"

As she stepped ahead of them father remarked, "Well, she certainly is taking everything in stride, isn't she?"

"Hush," said mother, "she'll hear you."

"Let her," said father. The supper club was noisy, the kind both parents hated. But they had picked it because it featured a long-haired male musical group who at least, resembled the Beatles.

The girl studied the menu intently. "Have the filet mignon," said Dad.

"It's too expensive. I want the ham."

"Ham exploded Dad. 'This is my party. Have the steak. 'It's her birthday,' broke in mother. 'Let her have the ham, if that's what she wants.'"

She had the ham. A few minutes later she excused herself. Even though she was 13, she was still little girl enough to want to inspect the ladies' lounge.

"That kid's spoiled," grumbled father. "Why when I was that age, if my Dad had done only one half of what we—"

"Well, now, dear—" mother murmured tactfully. In the taxicab on the way home all three were silent.

"Did you like the music?" said Dad. "Considering it was rock 'n' roll I thought it was pretty good."

"I guess it was okay," said the girl abstractedly. Her mind seemed far away.

Later, as the parents were getting ready for sleep, fathers pent-up resentment burst forth. "They're all spoiled today, that's the trouble. If you ask me, the whole evening was a waste of—"

"Daddy," it was their daughter calling from her bedroom. He went to the door.

"What do you want?"

"Come here."

He walked to her bedside. "Bend down."

He bent, and her slender childlike arms pulled him farther down, and he felt her lips press his cheeks and she said: "Thank you, Daddy, for a wonderful birthday. I know I'll never have another one this nice as long as I live."

He stayed there for a long moment, and knew the gladness that only a parent can know. When he went back into the other bedroom, his wife was saying: "Tomorrow I'll have a long talk with that young lady, and—"

"Oh, be still," said Dad. "Let the kid alone. What did you expect her to do, anyway—dance a jig or something?"

Mother looked up quickly, and smiled—and understood.

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you can prove that the Northeast drought of recent years hurt your over-all property value, you can get a tax break.

The Internal Revenue Service said Monday that taxpayers who suffered damage or loss of property from an "unusual and unprecedented drought occurring before Jan. 1, 1966, will be allowed to treat their losses as casualty losses."

That means you get a deduction on your income tax.

A Kansas congressman, Rep. Garner Shriver, has introduced legislation calling for a select investigating committee under minority control.

The committee would function only when the executive and legislative branches of the government are controlled by the same political party. It would have 15 members, appointed by the speaker. Eight would be of the minority party and seven from the majority party.

Its duties would be to determine whether federal laws are being enforced and administered in accordance with their intent; whether departments and agencies conduct their operations economically and efficiently; whether these consult with other departments and agencies with related responsibilities, and whether the various arms of the federal government are supplying full and accurate information to the public as required by law.

The complexity of the federal bureaucracy, which would make the proposed committee's work so difficult and time-consuming, would also argue in favor of its creation. The party in power usually is bent upon convincing everyone that all is well in the best of possible worlds. And too frequently the minority party does not live up to its historic function of investigation and objection.

It would be good to have a congressional committee expressly charged with the responsibility of being a watchdog. And if the majority party paid little attention to its findings, the public would.

The Business World

By John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Hot money, cold noses and frozen instead of liquid assets is the way one New York banker described the situation that closed Intra Bank, Lebanon's largest.

This explanation skirts the motives, which could include Arab politics, or the reason for the too-late action by the bank, which could have resulted from an internal squabble that paralyzed decision making.

Hot money, in the parlance of banking, means cash that seeks out the highest interest rates regardless of many other factors. It moves forward of a point; it is big money and can make big profits from a small fractions.

The cold nose helps sniff out the best rates. Intra had been paying high rates. But interest has been rising everywhere recently. Others matched Intra. Perhaps, in the depositors' views, other banks offered more security, too.

This was a situation that many banks could have lived with if they had been liquid; that is, if they could have quickly converted their assets into cash to meet sudden withdrawal demands.

Intra, however, reportedly had much of its assets tied up in Lebanese and foreign real estate and industry. It couldn't quickly convert them to cash. And if it tried, its desperation would be detected. The prices for its assets would drop.

"In other words," said the banker, "they committed the cardinal sin in banking: they borrowed short and they lent long." They had no long-term hold on their depositors' money; but they invested these deposits for a long period.

Although Intra's may be a special situation, it is tied to the current instability in world money.

Intra might have been able to remain open if money weren't tight. But money is in great demand. It isn't easily available anywhere now. The sheikhs, who have it, could be choosy.

Why is this? Inflation has caused a profits squeeze for many corporations, thus preventing them from using their own money for expansion. They have been borrowing. Then, credit controls have lowered the money supply.

Another factor is the U.S. balance of payments situation. In order to check the outflow of dollars, many American corporations expanding in Europe have raised money there instead of domestically.

The problem facing Lebanon now is to "encapsulate" Intra, to isolate the infection, to cut off Intra from the rest of the economy. Another possibility is to sell the bank to a large organization with liquid assets.

This might be hard on those with claims against the bank, but they have little choice. Intra reportedly has assets of $230 million and claims of only $170 million. Eventually, everyone might get his money.

The Central Bank of Lebanon then must watch for a run on other banks as they reopen Thursday. If nobody demands return of their deposits nothing may need to be done.

Worth Celebrating?

By John Chamberlain

This coming week - and is the tenth anniversary of the brave but unsuccessful Hungarian Revolution of 1956. By all the rules of decency the Administration should be pulling out the stops to help the escaped survivors to make it the great celebration of the decade. Though the Revolution was crushed in blood by 200,000 Soviet troops moving against Budapest behind 2,500 tanks, it did manage to serve notice on Moscow that it had better tread lightly in the further in dealing with discontent in the captive East European nations.

The 63,000 Hungarian deported revolutionaries who still languish in prison camps in Central Asia can take some comfort in knowing that they are a reminder to Janos Kadar, Moscow's stooge ruler in Budapest, that too open a tyranny might provoke a second uprising.

Unfortunately, the attempts of the escaped Hungarians to honor the 30,000 who died in the street battles of 1956 seem to have run smack up against the desire of the Administration to work out an East European economic deal with the Soviets in return for help in bringing the North Vietnamese to the peace table. The captive nations organizations get only half-hearted recognition in Washington. All sorts of extra propitiatory olive branches seem to be waving in odd places to tempt Moscow to act as a self-serving broker in negotiations. Even the hapless deal that partitioned Laos is mentioned as a worthy model. One can understand the pressure on President Lyndon Johnson to extricate the U.S. from the most unpopular war it has ever fought. But what is being done behind the scenes to gain concessions for freedom in eastern Europe as part of any two-front world deal with Moscow to bring an end to the Vietnamese struggle? Does Lyndon Johnson know that a high-level bargain with the Soviets on Vietnam might leave things in such a state behind the East European Iron Curtain that no net gain for freedom will result even though a semi-satisfactory conclusion in written to the war in Southeast Asia?

The fact is that concentration camps still exist in Hungary despite all reassurances that Dachau and Auschwitz are things of the past. A harrowing letter written to the International Red Cross in Geneva, Switzerland, by a German who was himself an inmate of the Hangos prison camp in Hungary tells of the mistreatment of seven West German captives by guards who rival the Nazis in their calculated inhumanity. The German got himself incarcerated by becoming involved in a traffic accident.

A second concentration camp permit the South Vietnamese Budapest, has been vouchered to Dr. Bela Fabian of the Hungarian Freedom Fighters by an Austrian citizen of former Hungarian nationality. This Austrian citizen spent fourteen months in Baracka. And there is still another camp at Bernatuk near Budapest which is guarded by North Korean soldiers. Apparently the Kadar government does not trust either Hungarian or Muscovite soldiers to do all of its dirty work in keeping political prisoners incarcerated.

These are things that should be concerning Washington in its efforts to build bridges to eastern Europe. This column is not against relaxing tensions, or trying to end the slaughter in Vietnam on a basis that will permit the South Vietnamese to work out their own salvation without being overrun by Han or Red Chinese Communists. But if the bridges to the east are to last, the foundation must be firm at both ends. A one-sided peace that will leave the Communists free to turn South Vietnam into another Laos and permit Moscow to fasten a tougher clamp on the East European satellites will only make the next "limited" war a bit worse than the present one.

These are the things that should be talked about on this tenth anniversary of the Hungarian revolt. Washington should be encouraging the Hungarians to raise such issues. It should beware of trying to end the Vietnam War with a Yalta-like deal that would extend the boundaries of Communism without changing a thing behind the boundaries that already exist. We have had enough of adding still another one to a shameful list.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. GOLDMAN, M.D.

What are the causes of a tubal pregnancy? Is this a frequent occurrence?

A tubal, or ectopic, pregnancy occurs when the fertilized egg is caught in the tube leading to the womb. Even though the fallopian tube is a narrow one it sometimes distends and may house the developing embryo for a few weeks.

The most common reasons are some previous inflammations of the tube causing narrowing or curvature. More rarely, some birth defect may kink the tube and prevent the passage of the egg in the adult. Adhesions from previous surgery is a less likely but a suspected reason.

Tubal pregnancy can occur in the absence of any of these reasons and the cause remains unknown. It is said to happen in about one out of four or 500 pregnancies. Tubal pregnancies usually terminate by the third to the sixth week and must be recognized immediately to avoid any of the serious complications of this unusual condition. Early surgery is important when the symptoms of ectopic pregnancy appear.

Is exercise beneficial for varicose veins?

When once varicose veins are recognized there are already definite changes and weaknesses within the thin muscles that line the veins. These changes are not reversible by exercise. With proper support and positional exercises the condition may be kept in control and perhaps prevented from extending.

Sometimes a specific cause for unusual varicose veins can be found an, when it is treated, the varicose veins may improve. Generally it can be stated that exercise in some form and in moderation is beneficial to all people. Before undertaking any exercise program, especially if there is any major medical problem, consultation with a physician is imperative.

What can be considered normal temperature? Does it vary from day to day in a normal, healthy person?

There is no single definite temperature reading that can be considered normal for all people. Although 98.6 degrees F. is considered normal it can vary from day to day and even from morning to night in the same person. The temperature can be about a degree higher in late afternoon than it is in the morning in a perfectly healthy, normal person.

Changes in temperature vary after a heavy meal. In the first two weeks of the normal menstrual cycle the temperature can rise almost a degree and is often used to indicate the ripening of the female egg, or ovulation.

Rectal temperature is usually a degree higher than that taken by mouth. A temperature reading above 100 degrees F. (37.6 degrees C.) should definitely be considered as fever, the cause of which should be determined to be sure there is no lurking or beginning infection.

WANT AD

Goal Was To Be Teen-Ager

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — It was her 13th birthday.

For years her big goal in life had been to become a teen-ager. And now it had happened to her, and Mother and Dad wanted to make it memorable.

And they thought they had done everything in their power. For they wanted it to be a big day for them as well as for their daughter.

They decided to give her the presents before they went out for the evening. Dad handed her his present first.

The girl opened the envelope and drew out a birthday greeting card and a $100 bill. Her face flushed in surprise, and then she studied the portrait on it carefully.

"Benjamin Franklin was never president of the United States," she said suspiciously.

"Nevertheless, it's a $100 bill," said Dad. "It's to start the fund for that trip to France you want to make sometime."

"Oh," said the girl. She put the bill away in her room and returned and opened her mother's present.

It was a delicate gold charm bracelet. The girl silently put it on.

"Tomorrow we can go and pick out your first charm for it," said mother.

"Okay," said the girl. There was a pause, and she said, "Well, shall we go now?"

As she stepped ahead of them father remarked, "Well, she certainly is taking everything in stride, isn't she?"

"Hush," said mother, "she'll hear you."

The supper club was noisy, the kind both parents hated. But they had picked it because it featured a long-haired male musical group who at least, resembled the Beatles.

The girl studied the menu intently. "Have the filet mignon," said Dad.

"It's too expensive, I want the ham."

"Ham exploded Dad. 'This is my party. Have the steak. 'It's her birthday,' broke in mother. 'Let her have the ham, if that's what she wants.'"

She had the ham. A few minutes later she excused herself. Even though she was 13, she was still little girl enough to want to inspect the ladies' lounge.

"That kid's spoiled," grumbled father. "Why, when I was that age, if my Dad had done only one half of what we—"

"Well, now dear—" murmured mother tactfully.

In the taxicab on the way home all three were silent.

"Did you like the music?" said Dad. "Considering it was rock 'n' roll I thought it was pretty good."

"I guess it was okay," said the girl abstractedly. Her mind seemed far away.

Later, as the parents were getting ready for sleep, fathers pent-up resentment burst forth: "They're all spoiled today, that's the trouble. If you ask me, the whole evening was a waste of—"

"Daddy," it was their daughter calling from her bedroom. He went to the door.

"What do you want?" "Come here."

He walked to her bedside. "Bend down."

He bent, and her slender childlike arms pulled him farther down, and he felt her lips press his cheeks and she said: "Thank you, Daddy, for a wonderful birthday. I know I'll never have another one this nice as long as I live."

He stayed there for a long moment, and knew the gladness that only a parent can know. When he went back into the other bedroom, his wife was saying:

"Tomorrow I'll have a long talk with that young lady, and—"

"Oh, be still," said Dad. "Let the kid alone. What did you expect her to do, anyway—dance a jig or something?"

Mother looked up quickly, and smiled—and understood.

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you can prove that the Northeast drought of recent years hurt your over-all property value, you can get a tax break.

Lady Bird Pays Visit

First Lady's Stay Enjoyed in Samoa

PAGO PAGO; American Samoa (AP) — Joy plants in vivid red spelled out "Manulele Tausala" — Lady Bird — as Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson dedicated a Samoan school where children are taught by television.

The whole island was agog for the brief visit Tuesday of the President and his wife, and 300 school children gathered to sing songs they wrote in honor of the Johnsons.

Mrs. Johnson stepped under an arched entrance to snip a ribbon of pretty floral leis in the ceremonial dedication of the Lady Bird School. The children had planted the bank of flowers to spell out the new school name and proudly watched the big event.

The consolidated village school named after the First Lady is the 22nd of 26 which are being built to reorganize the 45 former village schools into a compact educational television complex.

Samoa has 8,000 school children.

President Johnson in his airport arrival speech hailed the television pilot program and said with it Samoan children are learning "twice as fast as they once did."

He praised "outstanding Gov. Rex Lee and the very able director of the U.S. Information Agency, Leonard Marks" for helping to get it going in this island populated by only 22,000 persons.

Lee, 52, Idaho-born and a longtime administrator in Washington's Bureau of Indian Affairs, is credited for much of the new beautification and revitalization of American Samoa and for getting the educational television system under way.

EAST STROUDSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Sebastian S. Kresge, millionaire chain store owner, died at East Stroudsburg General Hospital Tuesday night at age 99.

A hospital spokesman said Kresge, who retired as board chairman of the Kresge chain earlier this year, died of infirmities of age. He had been in the hospital since July.

Kresge, once a Pennsylvania

Dutch farm boy, will be interred in a $75,000 mausoleum he had built two years ago outside nearby Kresgeville — a town named for the Kresge family.

A company spokesman said all 930 Kresge stores in the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico will be closed Friday when funeral services will be held from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. at the Methodist church in Mountainhome, Pa.

Kresge's life was marked by frugality.

"I've never spent more than 30 cents a day for lunch in my life and it hasn't killed me," he once told a newsman.

As a philanthropist, the man who entered the dime store business with $8,000 and left it with more than $200 million contributed up to $65 million to his own foundation.

Kresge was born July 31, 1867, on a farm near Bald Mount, Pa., where, at the age of 14, a neighbor gave him a beehive.

In five years the youngster had five beehives, and gave the profits to his father. During the depression years of the 1890's, Kresge restored rusty stoves and managed to have $8,000.

He invested this in a store with J.G. McCrory in Memphis, Tenn. A year later, they bought a store in Detroit, and in 1899, Kresge traded his share in the Memphis store for complete control of the Detroit branch. This was the beginning of the Kresge chain.

In 1924 Kresge divorced Anna Harvey, whom he married 1897. Kresge's second marriage was to Doris Mercer, an aspiring opera singer, but they were divorced four years later. In October 1928, he married Clara K.

Swaine, a divorcee, and the two lived in Mountainhome until Kresge's recent health failure.

Survivors include the widow and five children from Kresge's first marriage. The children include his sons Stanley S. of Detroit, who replaced Kresge as board chairman.

Farm Boy Turned Storeman Millionaire Dead at 99

EAST STROUDSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Sebastian S. Kresge, millionaire chain store owner, died at East Stroudsburg General Hospital Tuesday night at age 99.

A hospital spokesman said Kresge, who retired as board chairman of the Kresge chain earlier this year, died of infirmities of age. He had been in the hospital since July.

Lady Bird Pays Visit

First Lady's Stay
Enjoyed in Samoa

PAGO PAGO; American Samoa (AP) — Joy plants in vivid red spelled out "Manulele Tausala" — Lady Bird — as Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson dedicated a Samoan school where children are taught by television.

The whole island was agog for the brief visit Tuesday of the President and his wife, and 300 school children gathered to sing songs they wrote in honor of the Johnsons.

Mrs. Johnson stepped under an arched entrance to snip a ribbon of pretty floral leis in the ceremonial dedication of the Lady Bird School. The children had planted the bank of flowers to spell out the new school name and proudly watched the big event.

The consolidated village school named after the First Lady is the 22nd of 26 which are being built to reorganize the 45 former village schools into a compact educational television complex.

Samoa has 8,000 school children.

President Johnson in his airport arrival speech hailed the television pilot program and said with it Samoan children are learning "twice as fast as they once did."

He praised "outstanding Gov. Rex Lee and the very able director of the U.S. Information Agency, Leonardo Marks" for helping to get it going in this island populated by only 22,000 persons.

Lee, 52, Idaho-born and a longtime administrator in Washington's Bureau of Indian Affairs, is credited for much of the new beautification and revitalization of American Samoa and for getting the educational television system under way.

He came here in 1961.

Dear Abby: Husband Hits Ceiling

DEAR ABBY: Whenever my husband finds out one of our kids went to a dentist he hits the ceiling. He says I'm throwing out money, all dentists are crooks and nature will take care of everything. He says when he was young, folks went to a dentist only when a tooth ached, not have it pulled.

He's lucky, he was blessed with good strong teeth, but our kids have soft teeth (like me). I am 43 and have plates, and realize if I had taken better care of my teeth when I was young I'd have them today. My husband makes good money but he hates to give a dentist a dollar.

I can't go on feeling guilty every time I send the kids to a dentist. And I'm tired of hiding the dentist bills. What do you do with a man like that?

ASHTABULA, O.

DEAR ASHTABULA: Quit sneaking around, covering hiding the bills and feeling guilty. You are within your rights to provide your children with regular dental check-ups to insure total good health. And if he hits the ceiling, learn to tune him out. It's hard to believe a person could be so ignorant in this enlightened era.

DEAR ABBY: What advice would you give a 12-year-old boy who has ambitions to be smart.

HAS AMBITIONS

DEAR HAS: I would say READ! Read, read, read. In books there is a world of information just waiting to be discovered. The person who DOES NOT read has no advantage.

Dear Abby: Husband Hits Ceiling

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Whenever my husband finds out one of our kids went to a dentist he hits the ceiling. He says I'm throwing out money, all dentists are crooks and nature will take care of everything. He says when he was young, folks went to a dentist only when a tooth ached, not have it pulled.

HAS AMBITIONS
DEAR HAS: I would say READ! Read, read, read. In books there is a world of information just waiting to be discovered. The person who DOES NOT read has no advantage.

over the person who cannot read.

DEAR ABBY: Please answer this question which has puzzled me for a long time. When a person has taken his own life, should the whole incident be ignored as though nothing had happened, out of kindness and consideration for his family? There are some in my family who believe that this is the best course to follow. What do you think?

NAMELESS
DEAR NAMELESS: When a dear one is lost, his family suffers a loss, whether he has taken his own life or not. The "cause" should, of course, not be mentioned, but the friends of the family should acknowledge the loss and send words of comfort just the same.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SCARED TO DEATH" IN PROVIDENCE: No, you should not have "socked" him. You should have very quietly slipped out of your chair and reported the man to an usher. If you couldn't find an usher immediately, the ticket-taker, the manager, or any employee of the theater should have been alerted. Characters like the man you describe should not be allowed to get away.

Two Million Magic Figure In Texas Senate Election

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Two million votes is the magic figure in the Texas race for the U.S. Senate.

"I think Mr. Waggoner Carr is in trouble if he doesn't get at least a two-million turnout," says Hank Brown, president of the Texas AFL-CIO which is backing neither Democrat Carr nor Republican John G. Tower, seeking re-election to the Senate seat once held by Lyndon B. Johnson.

"With 1.6 or 1.7 million voters, we've got it won," says a Republican campaign official. "With two million we've still got a good chance."

"There's no doubt a light vote would hurt the Democrats while the Republican candidate would be helped," says Gov. John B. Connally, who has put his Democratic organization solidly behind Carr.

Carr also has an endorsement from President Johnson, and there have been unconfirmed reports that Johnson will campaign for him.

Both Tower and Carr are conservatives. Tower, 41, never mentions he is a Republican and stresses his cooperation with both parties in Washington. Carr, 48, claims he could be more effective as a Democratic senator working with a Democratic President, an all-Democratic House delegation from Texas, and a Democratic governor.

The Texas Election Bureau predicts a turnout of anywhere from 2 to 2.5 million of the 3.1 million registered voters. Only 1.25 million voted in the May Democratic primary. Republicans had no statewide contests.

The winning margin may lie with a loosely-organized ever-changing group usually called "the Texas liberals." This group consists generally of liberal Democrats led by U.S. Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, Brown's labor unions, and the Negro and Latin American minorities.

The liberals this year have merged their efforts to defeat Carr with the effort by Republicans and ultra-conservative Democrats to re-elect Tower.

Optimistic Republicans get their victory forecast by adding the 600,000 GOP vote they have produced in recent general elections to 150,000 they say Tower automatically draws as an incumbent plus a possible 40,000 votes from defecting liberal Democrats.

In the past Democrats have cast large votes through heavy turnouts of Negro and Latin American minorities. This was the case in 1960 when John F. Kennedy carried Texas, which twice had voted for Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower.

But organized labor, which usually leads and directs these get-out-the-vote campaigns, is mostly silent this year.

"Our position is that neither one of them is worth our help," said Brown. "We are not going

Hungarian Revolutionaries Retain Bitter 1956 Memories

EDITOR'S NOTE — The writer of this dispatch has covered the news in Hungary at intervals in the last 17 years. One of several AP reporters there at the time of the 1956 revolt, he was arrested and expelled in mid-December that year. Since then he has been back to Hungary several times.

By ERIC WAHA

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — "You from the West did not help us in 1956 — why are you interested in the Hungarian revolution now?" the former revolutionary asked bitterly.

At the Hungarian Foreign Ministry a spokesman said the great majority of people have all but forgotten about the 1956 uprising.

A tax chauffeur, after making sure nobody else was within to spend a dime or a postage stamp on either one."

earshot, spoke up: "Long live free Hungary."

These three stands seem to reflect the attitude of the Hungarians 10 years after this Communist-ruled country tried to shake off communism.

The revolution broke out Oct. 23, 1956. There was a brief span of jubilation before the Russians smashed it Nov. 4.

The impact of the Soviet action was resounding. Thousands of Western Communists tore up their party cards. Demonstrations were held in various western capitals and many Communist party offices were ransacked. World communism suffered a setback. In Austria, the Communists were wiped out in Parliament and have not succeeded in coming back.

The Foreign Ministry refuses to arrange interviews with leaders involved in the revolution or visits to factories such as the huge plant of Csepel Island which had a role in the uprising. Without approval, such interviews or visits to plants are in fact barred.

Western observers here agree the regime's apparent jitters are not due to fears of unrest on the anniversary date. But the regime obviously feels that even small incidents could be embarrassing. There are signs of increased police activities on the roads to and from Budapest.

About 200,000 Hungarians fled to the West after the 1956 revolution. The Foreign Ministry says about 50,000 have returned.

The number of Hungarians seeking refuge in other countries now is down to a few hundred every year. A modernized Iron Curtain studded with electronic gadgets plus barbed wire and minefields on some stretches makes it hazardous to try to escape to the West.

But an increasing number of Hungarians defect during tourist trips abroad.

Hungary today seems much better off than before the uprising, but liberalization has slowed down in the past two years.

The Communists did partly meet a basic demand of the revolutionaries for more freedom. In the years 1956-63 life here undoubtedly became less restricted. Party chief Janos Kadar set the line with his statement that "anyone who is not against us is in fact for us."

Nonparty members were given top jobs in the economy. A boom on foreign travel started. Tens of thousands of Hungarians were given passports to visit the West. Such Western travel has stagnated since 1956. Officials explain one reason is lack of foreign currency.

Board Head Opposed to Brown's Data

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dan Duffy, chairman of the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections, says Secretary of State Ted W. Brown is interfering with the board's planning for the Nov. 8 election.

Duffy said Tuesday Brown was "confusing the situation" by mailing instruction on how to conduct elections to individuals who will not be booth workers this year, although they were in the past.

Brown has mailed a 12 - page pamphlet called "Precinct Officials" Guide" to Democrats and Republicans who have acted as precinct officials at recent elections.

But Duffy said a number of

Policemen Continue Search for Theologian's Murderer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Police, looking for "a sadistic killer" who bludgeoned prominent theologian and civil rights leader Dr. Robert W. Spike to death, say they have no substantial leads.

these people "will not be booth workers because we have combined precincts in some areas to accommodate the new voting machines."

"Now the board is getting calls from people who were told they won't be officials and they got letters from Brown about how to conduct the election," Duffy said. "He's got it all in a dither."

A. L. DeMaioibus, a board member, said, however, he didn't expect the mixup "to do any harm."

Detective Capt. Tom Sawyer, reporting no solid clues in the Monday morning slaying, said: "It's surprising. There were 10,000 students walking around this place and no one is coming up with anything."

Dr. Spike's body, clad only in a raincoat, was found on the floor of a guest room at a new religious center just off the Ohio State University Campus.

Here to help dedicate the United Christian Center Sunday, the 43-year-old Chicagoan had been bashed in the head with a blunt object, speculated by the coroner to have been a hammer.

Around 30 hammers being used by fraternities in the area in construction of homecoming decorations were examined by the searchers. One was reported missing, but police stressed it may have been misplaced.

Neither police nor Dr. Robert Evans, county coroner, would comment on the autopsy and other laboratory tests made on the body.

About five hours after the body was found, a girl who identified herself as a college student came to the door of the center and told police "she knew who the murderer was." Several minutes later two other coeds appeared and asked to talk with police.

Officers questioned them for about 15 minutes, then released them. One detective later referred to the students as "kooks" and said they apparently were seeking publicity.

Prosecutor S. Howard Johnson and police agreed no motive has been established.

Johnson also said Dr. Spike's civil rights activity could not be ruled out as a motive, however, pointing to a report by Benjamin Layton of New York City that the Chicagoan "more than any other single person in the church was responsible for getting the church behind the civil rights movement."

Layton succeeded Spike in 1965 as executive director of the Commission on Religion and Race of the National Council of Churches.

Dr. Spike then moved to the University of Chicago, where as a professor of ministry he was active in promoting campus ministry and interdenominational work.

Lack of Grammer Causes Problems

DURHAM N.C. (AP) — The educated people who might be expected to use America's native language properly in many instances cannot.

Dr. A. C. Jordan a Duke University English professor recognized as a leading grammarian said doctors lawyers merchants chiefs — even school teachers — have little understanding of English grammar.

The result is that even they are finding efficient and sensible communication more difficult. The trouble Jordan said in bus for a nine-month head start program.

The Economic Planning Association of Greater Toledo received $178,360 for a three-month extension of a program development project.

an interview is that students are not properly trained.

Jordan said students from the elementary grades to the college level never receive necessary training in rudimentary English.

"Students are denied proper education in grammar and when some of them become teachers they in turn deny it to the students they teach" he said.

The professor said communications are breaking down and "individuals find it impossible to get across their ideas."

The failure of Americans to understand English Jordan said extends to improper punctuation, poor spelling and lengthy rambling sentences.

Jordan said his research had shown that poor grammar is not limited by any means to the uneducated.

The errors are committed by and found in the works of many professional men — "particularly doctors lawyers ministers schoolteachers and some of the worst offenders of all — news writers."

One of the basic problems in the school system Jordan said is "too much English literature and too little English grammar."

Jordan blames current literature for some of the failures of today. He is critical of the works of Ernest Hemingway Erskine Caldwell and John Steinbeck.

For the student with a desire to read the best Jordan suggested Thomas Wolfe James Joyce "and one of the greatest — F. Scott Fitzgerald."

As corrective measures Jordan suggests:

mittee of able deans from the professional schools and alert leaders in business and industry to outline a basic course in the fundamentals of English accuracy.

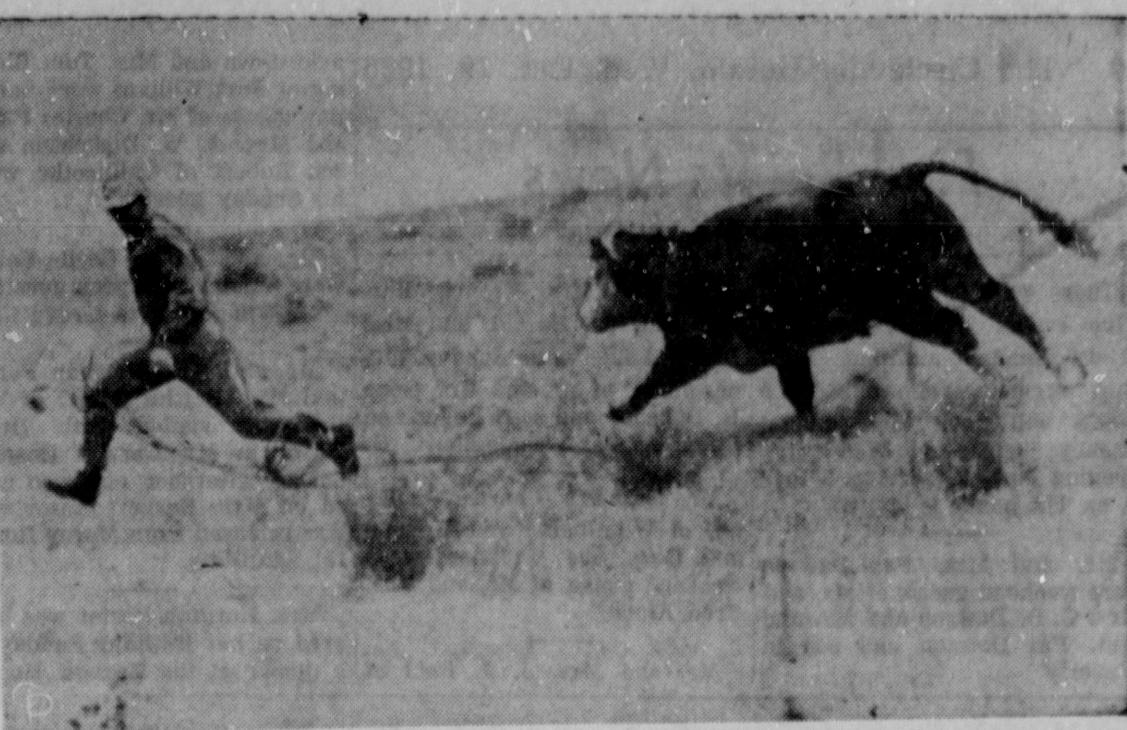

"And universities should insist that English grammar be made a full year of freshman work."

Major Bills Move Close to Finalization

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress nudged most of its remaining major bills close to final action today. Leaders said they remained confident the 1966 session would adjourn by Saturday.

Three priority bills were likely to be cleared to President Johnson during the day — a $1.75-billion antipoverity measure, a $1.26-billion demonstration cities bill and a packaging and labeling measure.

Congress has acted on appropriations totaling about $144 billion this year, including $13 billion for interest on the public debt.

The House planned to complete action today on the compromise antipoverity bill which passed the Senate in routine session Tuesday. It would authorize funds to continue the program a third year.

The House also scheduled a final vote on the demonstration cities bill which would inaugurate a program aimed at cleaning up blighted areas of selected cities. The Senate passed it Tuesday on a 38-22 roll call vote.

The Senate was expected to take up the compromise packaging measure which passed the House Monday.

The Senate Appropriations Committee was to vote on items in the final money bill of the session — a $4.92-billion supplemental measure carrying funds for many agencies. The House added a complication to the bill by voting to block President Johnson's proposal to allow the Export-Import Bank to finance commercial credits to Soviet bloc nations.

The administration was considered certain to try to get this killed in the Senate.

Senate House conferees reached agreement Tuesday on two giant federal aid to education bills — a $6.1-billion elementary and high school measure and a $3.97-billion higher education bill.

Conferees on the elementary and high school legislation wrote into the final version power for the commissioner of education to defer grating funds to segregated schools.

But conferees voted a 60-day limit on the time funds could be deferred without a hearing, and added another requirement that a decision on either withholding or restoring the funds must be reached within an additional 30 days.

The House had voted earlier to strip Commissioner of Education Harold Howe II of the power to defer funds without a hearing amid charges he and his aides were harassing Southern school officials in an attempt to speed desegregation.

North Viet Thrust Expected Soon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Some top U.S. military leaders in Saigon think North Viet Nam may time a new thrust across the demilitarized zone to coincide with elections next month in three countries fighting the Communists in South Viet Nam.

The objective could be to spur sentiment against the war in the United States, Australia and New Zealand.

The weather will be right for such a move. The monsoon rains already have started sweeping into the region where North and South Viet Nam meet.

Rainy, overcast weather is considered to favor the Communists because it cuts down U.S. air and helicopter operations.

After a period of heavy combat along the demilitarized zone, action has settled lately sporadic contact and limited fighting.

American generals said the North Vietnamese apparently are trying to follow their customary practice of "preparing the battlefield" — stocking enough food and munitions close to the area to sustain a major effort.

"I think they're getting ready to give us a spin when the weather closes in," one senior Marine general said.

To guard against a North Vietnamese offensive, the Marines have rearranged their forces and concentrated the 3rd Marine Division in the threatened area, the two northernmost provinces of South Viet Nam.

More artillery has been brought up to strengthen the Marine ground defenses.

Another Marine division, the 1st, is deployed to the south and could supply support if a major North Vietnamese attack developed.

A U.S. Army paratrooper battalion has been moved into the previously all-Marine 1st Corps area, the northernmost tier of provinces, and is being held in reserve.

And said one key general, "We have contingency plans to reinforce 1st Corps," in event of a serious enemy assault.

He did not give details, but it is probable additional U.S. Army combat units would be shifted northward from other areas of South Viet Nam.

One more U.S. Army division — the fifth to be committed to the war — is expected to start arriving from the United States fairly soon.

Major Bills Move Close to Finalization

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress nudged most of its remaining major bills close to the point of final action today. Leaders said they remained confident the 1966 session would adjourn by Saturday.

The World Today

By EDMOND LE BRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — You read that the House passed today a compromise bill to do so and so and you have a curious feeling that you read this story before, not long ago.

If you are a consistent reader of national news, you may be having that little tickle of memory oftener and oftener as the House and Senate plow through the remaining business to end a Congress' two-year work this week.

Your memory is not tricking you. You have read something very similar, not long ago. What you are reading now is, technically, action on reports of conference committees.

Here is a rundown on the operation of such committees, made necessary by the makeup of Congress — a coequal House of Representatives and Senate.

Obviously there will be times when a bill that started in one chamber will be amended by the other, or when the two chambers, starting separately, will produce different versions of legislation on the same subject.

When this happens, the originating chamber, House or Senate, has the choice of accepting the changes made by its opposite number, or asking for a conference to try to adjust the differences.

Most major bills and most minor ones that are at all controversial go through the conference process. It follows from this that most of the important laws are written, in their final form at least, by a relatively small group of senior congressmen and senators.

A conference committee traditionally is made up of senior members of both parties, from the Senate and the House committees that handled the legislation. The majority party, at present the democrats, has a majority of the conferees.

Conferences can be long and frustrating. The amendment made by one chamber to another's bill frequently is a total amendment — everything after the formal enacting clause is replaced by an entirely different legislative draft. The Senate, or the House, may limit its conferees' freedom to negotiate by voting to instruct them not to give in on his or her hat point.

The House has a strict rule of germaneness — an amendment must relate clearly to the subject of the bill. The Senate has no effective rule of this sort. So the Senate has learned to hitch an entirely different bill — as an "amendment" — to an unrelated bill sent to it by the House. This is a handy way to rescue a bill that has fallen into the hands of an unfriendly committee or is otherwise held up at some procedural roadblock.

Somehow, conferences usually result in agreement and in reports which in turn are approved by the House and Senate — a process ordinarily spoken of as passing a compromise bill.

This suggests a little arithmetic that may reassure taxpayers who think Congress always acts hastily. A major program, for example, or housing, normally requires enactment of two bills, and the process goes like this:

The House passes an authorization bill setting the limit that may be spent. The Senate passes it, amended. There is a conference, which produces a report. The Senate and the House both approve the report. So far, four votes.

Then there is an appropriation bill actually providing the money. Same procedure. Total votes: eight.

Not necessarily perfect lawmaking — but not headlong haste, either.

Solon Offers Idea On Viet Situation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken urged today that President Johnson unilaterally declare the United States the military victor in Viet Nam and announce "that this stage of the Viet Nam war is over."

Such a declaration, the Vermont Republican said, would remove the problem of U. S. military face-saving, restore political rather than military warfare as the dominant theme and open the way to negotiations.

"It is important to stress that no politician in the United States, in Europe or even in Russia is likely to challenge a unilateral declaration of military victory on our part," said Aiken, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in a speech prepared for the Senate.

If the Viet Cong, the North Vietnamese or the Red Chinese should challenge the declaration, Aiken said, they would be directly challenging the ability of U. S. military power and thus assuming responsibility for broadening the war.

Aiken asserted that the victory declaration should be accompanied by a gradual redeployment of the U. S. forces around strategic centers and the substitution of reconnaissance for bombing.

Aiken said his suggestion was designed to "remove the credibility of U. S. military power — or more loosely the question of 'face' — as the factor which precludes a political solution."

The United States began its military buildup in Viet Nam in 1965 because "there actually existed a clear and present danger of military defeat for the American forces" who already were there, he said.

But, said Aiken, the administration used North Vietnamese aggression, rather than the danger of military defeat, as the reason for escalation.

Aiken argued the situation has changed, contending American forces no longer face a danger of defeat.

Man Says People Accident Prome

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Are there people who are accident prone? Sure there are.

According to an expert in the field, you are one of them.

Dr. Orswell Fine, assistant professor of psychiatry at the University of Kentucky, explains that everybody can be accident prone under certain pressures.

For example: Just before leaving for work, a man finds out that he is overdrawn at the bank. While driving his car, his mind is centered on money matters, not traffic. He is an accident looking for a place to happen.

"We're made vulnerable at certain times during our lives, too, such as times of transition, change or stress," Fine said. "For example, when a student leaves school and goes into the outside world."

This type of accident proneness, for most of us, is a temporary thing, Fine said. But there are some for whom it is more or less permanent.

"There are people who by their very character invite accidents," Fine told business and industry representatives Monday at a discussion sponsored by a local mental health group.

Generally, he said, these people fall into one or more of these categories:

—Those seeking self-punishment. This might be a person who has committed what he or she felt was a great wrong and subconsciously wants to punish himself or herself for it.

Those seeking self-injury to ward off disaster. Fine used an example of a student headed for an examination he knows he will fail. An auto accident will keep him from getting there.

Those seeking care or pity. Fine noted that a plain-looking secretary who has been injured in an accident receives flowers and attention from men who otherwise might not notice her.

—Those who have very low self-esteem. "They say they're not much good and, who may drive over a cliff to prove their point," Fine said.

—Those fascinated by escape from injury in a previous accident. They seem to think they're indestructible.

Young Hunter Seeks To End Bullet Pain

MARIETTA, Ga. (AP) — An 11-year-old boy, lost in the woods and wounded by a ricocheting bullet, shot himself in the temple because "I couldn't stand the pain no longer."

However, Billy Painter was found, rushed to a hospital for emergency surgery and early today was reported in fair condition.

Billy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Painter of Decatur, had gone into the mountains of northwest Georgia with his father, a younger brother and an uncle for a weekend hunting trip. Painter said Billy left the camp early Sunday to shoot squirrels.

Painter said his son told rescuers "he shot at a squirrel and the bullet glanced and hit him above the right eye."

When he didn't return in a short while, the father said, a search was started. The search was enlarged by volunteers later but Billy wasn't found until early Monday, still conscious in a wooded area about a mile from the camp site.

Painter said the boy told rescuers that he had given up hope of ever being found and that he had placed his .22 caliber rifle against his temple and fired because of the intense pain from the earlier wound above his right eye.

Flu Shots Are Advised For Elderly

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Although major outbreaks of influenza aren't expected this winter, U.S. Public Health officials have advised persons over 65 or with certain types of disease to get their flu injections anyway.

A spokesman for the U.S. Public Health Service's communicable disease center said Monday the vaccine is "in the range of 60 per cent effective" in preventing influenza. "But we think it is extremely effective in preventing mortality and reducing the severity of the disease," he said.

"Vaccine should begin as soon as practicable after Sept. 1 and ideally should be completed by mid-December," said the spokesman.

Flu occurred in 49 of the 50 states last winter, the spokesman said. The winter and spring of 1965-66 were noteworthy in that sometimes sharp and extensive outbreaks of both types A and B influenza occurred.

The spokesman said both types occur in cycles. Type A occurs about every two to three years and type B about every three to four years.

"They overlapped last year," the spokesman said. "We had some of both."

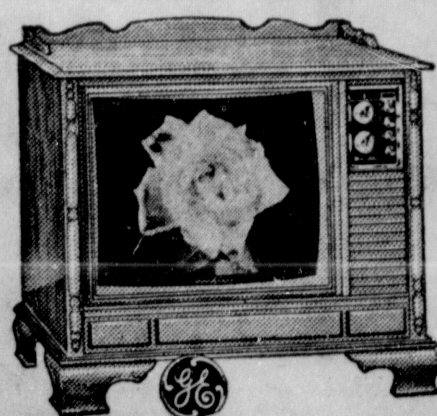

"Because of the widespread recognition of both types A and B influenza viruses in 1965-66 and the characteristics of infecting strains, it is felt that relatively little influenza activity will be recognized in 1966-67."

Flu Shots Are Advised For Elderly

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Although major outbreaks of influenza aren't expected this winter, U.S. Public Health officials have advised persons over 65 or with certain types of disease to get their flu injections anyway.

A spokesman for the U.S. Public Health Service's communicable disease center said Monday the vaccine is "in the range of 60 per cent effective" in preventing influenza. "But we think it is extremely effective in preventing mortality and reducing the severity of the disease," he said.

"Vaccine should begin as soon as practicable after Sept. 1 and ideally should be completed by mid-December," said the spokesman.

Flu occurred in 49 of the 50 states last winter, the spokesman said. The winter and spring of 1965-66 were noteworthy in that sometimes sharp and extensive outbreaks of both types A and B influenza occurred.

The spokesman said both types occur in cycles. Type A occurs about every two to three years and type B about every three to four years.

"They overlapped last year," the spokesman said. "We had some of both."

"Because of the widespread recognition of both types A and B influenza viruses in 1965-66 and the characteristics of infecting strains, it is felt that relatively little influenza activity will be recognized in 1966-67."

Solon Offers Idea On Viet Situation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George D. Aiken urged today that President Johnson unilaterally declare the United States the military victor in Viet Nam and announce "that this stage of the Viet Nam war is over."

Such a declaration, the Vermont Republican said, would remove the problem of U. S. military face-saving, restore political rather than military warfare as the dominant theme and open the way to negotiations.

"It is important to stress that no politician in the United States, in Europe or even in Russia is likely to challenge a unilateral declaration of military victory on our part," said Aiken, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in a speech prepared for the Senate.

Ability To Laugh Termed Best Tonic by Bob Hope

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I like to laugh; it's the best tonic I know," says Bob Hope by way of explaining why he is sharing his television show with 16 other comedians tonight.

The Hope comedy special is called "Murder at NBC," and it co-stars, in alphabetical order, Don Adams, Milton Berle, Red Buttons, Johnny Carson, Jack Carter, Bill Cosby, Wally Cox, Bill Dana, Jimmy Durante, She-cky Greene, Don Rickles, Rowan and Martin, Soupy Sales, Dick Shawn and Jonathan Winters.

How is Hope going to work all that comic talent? The story line has him playing Leopold von Smirch, a mad scientist who tangles with a variety of agents, counter-agents and counter-counter-agents.

Taking his ease at Lakeside Country Club one noon, Hope discussed the reasoning behind the show.

"Look — I've been on televi- sion 16 years now, and it's time I offered something different said the funnyman-tycoon. "We had great luck with the first show, in which I got together all my leading ladies. I was told that it would be impossible to assemble them all and keep them happy.

"But it worked out just great and everything was happy, in- cluding the ratings.

"I had no trouble getting the comics; they all were enthu- siastic about the idea. And there was no problem in keeping them happy. Each of them has his moments. The great thing about show like this is what it does for my writers. It gives them a fresh challenge, and they enjoy it."

The question was raised: What happens to Hope when he plays host to such an assem- blage of funnymen? Is he re- duced to the position of straight man?

"That doesn't bother me," he replied. "You know something? When a scene is going well, it doesn't matter whether you have the punch lines or not. As long as the laughs are coming, you're a comedian."

Time Now Marches Fast in India

EDITOR'S NOTE — The writ- er of this analysis has been chief of The Associated Press bureau in India for three years. Now leaving to assume another assignment he was asked to assay the last few years' devel- opments and India's outlook.

By CONRAD FINK
NEW DELHI India (AP) — In once-timeless India time is marching swiftly today. Seldom in 19 years of independence has India been in such turmoil with its basic democratic institutions and its dream of progress threatened.

In the heady years after independence in 1947 there seemed to be few doubts India was en- tering a new era.

A turning point came three years ago as Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru slumped into physical and mental exhaustion caused by too many burdens carried too long.

India slumped too. Massive development plans once a model for underdevel- oped nations trying to leave the ox cart age became divorced from economic realities. New Delhi talked of steel mills while Indians hungered.

With his death May 27, 1964 it became apparent the essential question was: "After Nehru what?"

Lal Bahadur Shastri who suc- ceeded Nehru found to his dis- pair riots, civil disobedience, food shortages and a dangerous weakening of India's federated structure.

Ambitious state and regional politicians began defying New Delhi. Food-surplus states re- fused to share with hungry neighbors. Language riots erupted regional jealousies came to the surface states be- gan quarreling over boundaries separate groups began demand- ing separate states.

All this revealed a centrifugal force spinning power away from the central government and into the hands of men who might use it for something less than na- tional good.

This force today threatens Nehru's dream of one powerful viable nation of 500 million.

Shastri to the surprise of many flowered as a leader dur- ing India's war with Pakistan in September 1965. His dedication to the basic problems of feeding and housing his people im- pressed foreign experts.

India many felt was getting its feet on the ground for the first time since independence. But last Jan. 11 while trying to fashion peace with Pakistan at a summit conference in Tash- kent U.S.S.R. Shastri died.

It was a stunning blow. India's political leadership — "the syndicate" it is called — turned to Nehru's daughter In- dira Gandhi. The 48-year-old widows government experience was limited to watching her Fa- ther in action plus one brief term as information minister.

How has she done? A leading Indian cartoonist sums up his feelings by portray- ing Mrs. Gandhi and her Cabi- net fleeing along a road pursued by a howling mob demanding food, lower prices and a break in life.

"I am sure the country is be- hind us," Mrs. Gandhi gasps.

The cartoon touches a wide- spread suspicion: In three years, the leaders who once led are being pushed and chased.

Mobs break down law and order in vast areas for long pe- riods. Parliament and state leg- islatures are hamstrung by a canny leftist opposition. Stu- dents have entered the area, rioting, clashing with police, destroy classrooms — becoming ever bolder.

The government responds with authoritarian crackdowns, employing emergency legisla- tion passed to defend India against Communist Chinese in- filtration.

A continual political uproar, disclosing a reservoir of hereto- fore hidden discontent, com- pounds India's economic mis- eries.

Strikes, inefficiency, corrup- tion — all flourish. Floods and drought strike other blows.

India's national income in 1965-66 dropped 3.7 per cent. Agricultural production was off 15.7 per cent, official figures show. The population increases 12 million annually — a statistic that means the economy must run fast just to stay in place.

Once India could draw on a seemingly inexhaustible fund of foreign aid. The United States alone has contributed more than $7 billion to India's develop- ment; American wheat today feeds millions.

But the United States has no huge grain surplus left. There is "aid weariness" in America and elsewhere. India nevertheless needs massive continued aid just to pay off its debts.

Can India lick these problems within the framework of a dem- ocratic society?

Three years ago, many diplo- mats and aid experts said huge doses of foreign aid could help democratic India reach the eco- nomic "takeoff stage."

Today, some talk no longer of a takeoff. They say the most important problem is staving off leftist-inspired chaos and a sub- sequent swing to authoritarian- ism.

FBI Arrests Man on Grid Bribe Count

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI announced today the arrest of a Louisiana man on charges of trying to bribe the backfield stars of the Louisiana State University football team.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover identified the man as Samuel Joseph Graziano, 26, of Baton Rouge.

Hoover said Graziano is charged with trying to influence the outcome of six LSU football games this autumn. ing Mrs. Gandhi and her Cabi- was conducted with the coop- eration of the three players in- volved—halfbacks Jim Dusey and Billy Masters, and fullback Gawnin Betta.

Hoover said Graziano, a bar- ber, tried to bribe the players in connection with LSU football games with the University of South Carolina, Sept. 17; Rice University, Sept. 24; University of Miami, Florida, Oct. 1; Texas A&M, Oct. 8; University of Ken- tucky, Oct. 15; and the Univer- sity of Florida to be played Oct. 22.

The FBI said its investigation be arranged before a U.S. com- missioner at Baton Rouge.

If convicted, the maximum penalty on the sports bribery charge is a $10,000 fine or five years in jail, or both.

Hoover said Graziano is a partner in the Dalton Barber- ship, Baton Rouge.

Graziano lives at 3313 Cres- taire Drive, Baton Rouge.

She Meant Well

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — When Evelyn Carson parked her car on the crest of a small hill recently, she noticed that the car in front of her had begun rolling forward.

In it were two children. She chased the rolling car, jumped in and stopped it se- conds before it would have rolled into a busy intersection.

Her own car, meanwhile, rolled backward down the op- posite side of the hill, into a park- ing lot and struck a truck. No one was injured.

MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS

Q. Is multiple sclerosis inheritable? Is there any reason why a man with the disease should not have children?

A. There are more sufferers from multiple sclerosis among members of families of patients with this disease than can be accounted for by chance, and to this extent the disease certainly shows a tendency to "run in families." However, there seems to be no recognizable inheritable pattern, although the disease seems to affect brother and sister more often than parent and child. It would be illogical to express an opinion on the advisa- bility of a man with multiple sclerosis having children without knowing the entire family his- tory. Such advice is best solicited from the at- tending physician.

PIERCED EARS

Q. When the ear is pierced will the hole or canal remain open or will the edges eventually grow together and close the canal?

A. Once the canal is established, it will remain open unless there is irritation or infection. Ear piercing is a minor surgical procedure which should not be attempted by well meaning friends or other nonprofessionals.

Musicians Threaten Walkout Unless Demands Are Met

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Musicians from symphonic halls to discotheque dance floors are threatening in increasing numbers to lay down their instruments if their demands for more money and better working conditions are not met.

Dissatisfaction has spread from New York's night clubs and show spots to San Francisco's Concert Hall and in many cabaret and opera houses the show hasn't gone on.

The result has been empty orchestra pits, darkened stages and 11th-hour bargaining.

In New York City, a strike by members of Local 802 of the AFL-CIO American Federation of Musicians ended Tuesday night after the city's hotel association agreed to reduce their work week from five to six days and grant salary increases to a base pay of approximately $167.

The agreement, yet to be ratified by the membership, also provides arbitration of job security disputes, a major stumbling block.

During the two-day walkout, the entertainment rooms and dance floors of some hotels were closed and Maurice Chevalier sang without accompaniment at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Members of the Philadelphia Orchestra have been on strike since their contract expired Sept. 15.

Twelve concerts in Philadelphia and one in Baltimore have been canceled. Orchestra

Negotiation Eyed

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Federal mediator Harry Gray said Tuesday that, at the request of the striking Local 711 of the United Auto Workers, he would try today to set up a negotiating session between the union and Super Coach Co. officials.

The strike began last Friday in a dispute over an earlier walkout that was followed by the firing of 33 employees. The fired employees were later reinstated.

members held a benefit concert Friday, led by conductor Leopold Stokowski, and raised $15,000 for the strike fund.

The members now make a minimum of $10,000 a year, plus a $2,000 recording fee, but they want $16,000 annually. The orchestra association has offered a five-year pact with a total minimum pay of $14,500 the 1st year. Negotiations have been sporadic.

Musicians in the San Francisco Symphony threatened a strike two years ago and the season was reinstated only after the Musicians Union signed a three-year contract providing $190-a-week for a 30-week season. There have been indications of trouble when the contract expires.

Not all musicians are unhappy. Harmony was reported in Seattle, Wash., Boston, Los Angeles, Louisville, Ky., Atlanta, Ga., Cleveland, Ohio, Nashville, Tenn., Chicago, Detroit and Dallas, Tex.

Lake Erie Pipelines Said Needed

UCYRUS, Ohio (AP)—Construction of a Lake Erie pipeline system is needed to provide for water needs near the lake, according to a preliminary report presented to the Ohio Water Commission and the Water Development Council of Northwest Ohio.

The Columbus consulting firm of Burgess & Niple told the two groups here Tuesday that the system should be built in such a way as to permit later extension inland.

The plan also calls for use of "elevated lakes" to control stream flow on tributaries for the Sandusky basin as a key factor in managing northwest Ohio's water resources.

Burgess & Niple proposed multipurpose upground reservoirs — "man made elevated lakes" — as "the best available approach to saving for use and managing the flow of local runoff water."

Also proposed was test drilling and test pumping to assure "the most complete development possible of well-water resources" to meet the needs of many communities, industries and farms.

Other ideas included channel improvement and erection of protective levees and low dams near stream headquarters, stream monitoring stations to check on pollution, and a system of saving flood water for release during drought.

New Commission Chairman Happy with His Baldness

WASHINGTON (AP) — There's at least one man in the United States who is glad he is bald: Stephen N. Shulman, new chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

At 33, Shulman is one of the youngest agency chiefs in Washington, and he is just as happy to look older.

To Shulman, a graduate of Harvard University and Yale University Law School, responsibility has come early.

At 28 he was an executive assistant to then Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg.

At 29 he was a deputy assistant secretary of defense in charge of personnel, industrial relations and civil rights.

By the time he was 32, Shulman was general counsel of the Air Force.

Several weeks ago he took over the post vacated when Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. resigned to campaign for governor of New York.

Has Shulman found any resentment from the many older government employees — including generals and admirals — who have worked under him?

"I never found that to be a problem," he said in an interview — his first since becoming commission chairman. "I think the fact I'm bald is a tremendous help."

But Shulman said he was embarrassed "when a full colonel or a general called me 'sir.'"

Shulman now is in a young agency — it's only about a year and a half old. Its personnel is also mostly young. Shulman believes the average commission employee age to be younger than that of other agencies.

Facing this new commission is a backlog of about six months' work. About 2,000 of 9,000 complaints received by the commission in its five year haven't cleared initial screening.

Other cases are at various stages, with the six-month jam in the area of conciliation — getting employers to stop discriminatory practices.

It is the commission's job to enforce the provisions of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 which bar employment discrimination based on race, religion, national origin or sex.

The commission screens cases for probable discrimination. If it finds there has been some, it attempts to get the employer to stop discriminating. If this fails it can refer the case to the attorney general or the complaining employee can file his own suit in court.

New Type School Given Approval

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's first non-graded high school, which will allow students to take courses on the basis of their ability rather than class rank, has received a final go-ahead.

The Athens School Board approved Tuesday to put the school into operation by September of next year. The new school, now under construction at the north edge of Athens, will serve some 1,200 students in grades 9 through 12 now enrolled at three existing high schools.

The schools to be replaced are Athens, The Plains and Chauncey.

Peace Corpsmen Not Fully Pleased

IBADAN, Nigeria (AP) — With help from a local political crisis, U.S. Peace Corps members in Nigeria have won postponement of a cut in their living allowances. But some of them say their bosses still don't understand them.

Peace Corps Director Jack Hood Vaughn, who rushed to Nigeria three months ahead of schedule after the volunteers threatened to strike, announced Tuesday no changes would be made in living allowances "until the situation in Nigeria returns to normal."

Tribal hostilities are threatening to split the nation. Observers feel it will be a long time before local politics returns to normal.

The corps members threatened last month to strike after reports that their living allowance of about $149 a month would be cut $5 to $15. With about 700 volunteers, the mission in Nigeria is the second largest in the world.

Since his arrival Oct. 8, Vaughn has held 19 meetings with the volunteers. He plans several more before leaving Oct. 25 for South Korea.

He said Tuesday that the proposed cut in living allowances would be postponed because prices are fluctuating so rapidly in the current uncertain political situation that it is impossible to work out a formula based on the cost of living.

The volunteers said the strike threats were made "in desperation" to get policymakers in Washington to hear their complaints. They protested that decisions were being made without consulting workers in the field.

"I think the Peace Corps missed the point of protest," said Jo Foster, 23, of Carmel, Calif. "They have been treating us like high school kids."

Pro Grid Owners Chided by Solon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The high cost of signing players is a major reason why National and American Football League owners want to merge, says Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

"They are poor labor negotiators and are asking Congress to rescue them from their own ineptitude and folly," says Celler, chairman of the House antitrust subcommittee.

Passage of a bill exempting the merger from the antitrust laws is regarded as a certainty. But Celler, who had hoped to hold up the legislation until he could explore its consequences fully in public hearings, is going down fighting.

He said Tuesday he will try to eliminate the merger provision from an administration tax bill, to which the Senate added it in a maneuver to get around Celler. There was a possibility the bill would come up in the House today.

Celler said the hearings that were held made it clear the desire for a common draft that would end the bidding between leagues for star players was a powerful factor in launching the merger.

Celler said when the merger is given antitrust immunity, the owners will have virtually unlimited power over the players, who he said would have to play for the team that drafts them at the price offered or not play at all. And the players would have no safeguard against abuse, he said.

"This would not be permitted in any other business," he said. "Now when a player is abused, he may bring an action under the antitrust laws. After this bill is enacted he will have no direct and effective remedy. It is a shameful thing to do to any group of employees."

The Senate, which twice passed the bill unanimously, never held any hearings on it.

Celler said the senate action of forcing acceptance of the merger provision as part of an important tax bill, with no chance to consider it separately was "an affront to the deliberative process of Congress."

Local Hunters Successful in Tennessee

Jim Redman, Route 2, and Marion DeLong, Route 3, have returned from a successful hunting trip in Southeastern Tennessee.

Redman, using a bow and arrow, bagged a wild turkey gobbler and a bobcat. DeLong came home from the trip with a wild boar and a turkey.

The two local sportsmen took their wives along on the journey. Although Mrs. Redman and Mrs. DeLong did not hunt, they served as photographers.

It was Redman's second trip to the area. A year ago he returned with a wild boar and a turkey.

The area in which the two men hunted was just south of the Smokey Mountains near Wallard, Tenn.

Renfro Poses Problem for Dallas Coach

CLEVELAND (AP) — It looks as if Mel Renfro is ready for duty when the Dallas Cowboys meet the Cleveland Browns here Sunday. This might pose a problem for Cowboys' Coach Tom Landry.

He has the choice between Renfro, who started the season as a running back, and Dan Reeves, who filled in when Renfro was injured. Reeves is the National Football League's leading scorer with 54 points.

A glance at NFL statistics, however, indicates Reeves is a short yardage expert to complement Don Perkins his running partner. Reeves isn't listed among the league's top rushers or receivers.

Renfro is the Cowboys' break-away threat and the Browns have seen it first hand when Mel was a defensive back. He's one of the few men to catch Jim Brown from behind in an open field with Brown going full stride.

Renfro also is a darting target for quarterback Don Meredith, who already has flanker Bob Hayes to throw at.

Meredith is a second among the NFL flingers, hitting 68 of 128 for quarterback Don Meredith, downs. The Browns' Frank Ryan is third with 77 of 135 and 10 touchdowns.

Unique Computer Eyed

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore & Ohio and Chesapeake & Ohio railroads will put into operation a computer system capable of pinpointing the locations of 150,000 freight cars on 11,000 miles of track.

The Radio Corp. of America is installing the system, which is to begin operation this year.

Jack Gainer, who succeeded the late Jimmy Pitt as trainer of thoroughbreds for Edgehill Farm and Pleasant Hill Farm, played high school football as a fullback at Panama City, Fla.

Runners Feeling Effects Of Mexico City Altitude

MEXICO CITY (AP) — "My chest was so tight, I thought it was going to pop and spew my ribs on the track," said 17-year-old Billie Gaines of Mullica Hills, N.J.

"At first, I almost blacked out — my eyes got woozy — but I took some deep breaths and was all right," said Tommie Smith of Los Angeles.

Even the sprinters now claim they are feeling the effects of Mexico City's 1½-mile altitude in their tune-up for the 1968 Olympic Games.

Smith, stringbean world record holder in the 200 meters and 220 yards and Gaines, the amazing schoolboy from New Jersey, finished second and third, respectively, Tuesday to Cuba's veteran Enrique Figueroa in the 100-meter dash of the Little Olympics.

Both Figueroa and Smith were timed in 10.4 seconds, with Gaines one-tenth of a second behind.

Smith, who along with other members of the U.S. track and field team didn't check in until

Tuesday night, said he believed it would take at least two weeks at this altitude to get ready for the 100 and three weeks for any one running 400 and above.

The United States extended its medal lead when a dark horse, Neil Steinhilber, who was not even listed with the official U.S. squad, won the shot put with 61 feet, 5 inches (18.72 meters).

Smith got a silver and Gaines a bronze in the 100 meter dash. This gave the Americans a total of 19 golds, 12 silvers and one bronze compared with Russia's 13-11-9 ratio.

Valery Shorikov of the Soviet Union won the high jump (2.12 meters, 6 feet, 11½ inches) and the Russians got a bronze in the 5,000 meters where Jurij Zurg finished third behind Colombia's Mohamed Gammoudix (14:20).

Poland scored a double when Ewa Klobukowska won the women's 100 meters (11.3) and Irena Kirszenstein the 200 meter (20.1). Other track and field titles went to Hilda Ramirez of Cuba, women's discus (39.58 meters, 129-10¼); Van Eyk Vos of Holland, women's 400 meters (1:45.7); and Roberto

Braves, Teays Valley Set For Important League Loop

Logan Elm and Teays Valley High School football teams will both be risking their standings in respective leagues this Friday.

Deadlocked for the top spot in the Metropolitan, the Vikings will put their 2-1 loop record on the line when the Whitehall Rams invade the TV gridiron. Logan Elm, 1-0, in Scoto Valley Conference competition, goes to Piketon to meet the once beaten Red Streaks.

Piketon was ranked in the top ten in the Associated Press Class A grid poll until undefeated Unio came along.

The Shermans dumped Coach Ron Jones' Red Streaks from the ranks of the unbeaten and from the top ten rating as well.

PIKETON has defeated Westfall and Paint Valley in SVC action. Even if the Redstreaks win, they have to hope for an upset win by either Logan Elm or Paint Valley over the Shermans to gain a share of the title.

Unio effectively stopped the vaunted Piketon running attack, holding the entire team to 56 yards and All - Ohio halfback Earl Willson to a scant total of nine.

Basically, Piketon is a split T team on offense. Defensively, the Red Streaks use an Oklahoma formation with a five man line.

The Red Streaks do not pass a great deal, although quarterback Randy Deering can throw the ball. Other members of the backfield include Larry Keesee, Bob Deering and Phil Short.

Along the line, Piketon will start Bill Auton and Mike Burnside at ends, Mike See and Rick Williams at tackles, Phil Eckels and Ron Burton at guards and Rusty Lee at center.

Frinoli of Italy, 400-meter hurdles (49.6).

Olympic champion Jiri Daler of Czechoslovakia won women's 400-meter individual pursuit in cycling while Jürgen Juhlitz of West Germany moved in the front after three events of pentathlon with Jim Freshley of Niles, Mich., an Army corporal at Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

Defensive changes find Charles Blanton at right end, Mike Noel at right tackle, Phil Short at middle guard, Charles Noel at left tackle and Williams at left end.

BOB DEERING and Auton are the cornerbacks. Willson and Gary Lansing are the inside linebackers and Tony Wyke and Burnside the safeties.

That lineup includes 13 lettermen from a team that handed Logan Elm a 36-6 loss last year. Also back is the veteran coach, Ron Jones.

In Whitehall, Teays Valley will be facing the biggest team in the Metro League.

Friday's contest is the first meeting between the two schools, since Whitehall was just added to the league this year.

The Rams are one of four teams with a 2-1 record in the Metro League. Other teams are Teays Valley, Reynoldsburg and Pleasant View.

Returning lettermen for Whitehall include Gary Hunter and Count Fuller and Ken Schmitt, halfbacks. Linemen back are Scott Graeler, Jim Heaton, Dave Mowrer, Mike Scudder and Ken Flowers.

TEAYS VALLEY lost its first three games this year.

Against Hamilton Twp. in the first league tilt the Vikings converted a blocked kick into a touchdown for a 6-0 win.

At Pleasant View, the Vikings lost, 34-8, but still played one of their best games, Marion Waits, Viking coach reported.

Last week at Franklin Heights, The Viking Juniors "began to come along and the senior leadership began to have an effect."

The Vikings posted a 20-12 victory over the Falcons for the best offensive showing of the year.

A proponent of the tight T formation with the belly series being his bread and butter play, Waits has opened up his style of football this year.

THE VIKINGS frequently drop into a shotgun formation with both halfbacks and both ends split.

The present position Teays Valley shares as leader in the Metro League, marks the first time since the local school joined the league of southern Franklin County schools that it has been so high in the standings.

The Metro League was formed this year by adding Whitehall and Reynoldsburg to the old South Suburban League. Charter members of the athletic combine include Franklin Heights, Pleasant View, Hamilton Twp. and Teays Valley.

Bragan Named Coach for Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jimmy Bragan was named a coach today for the Cincinnati Reds. He is a brother of Bobby Bragan, who managed the Atlanta Braves part of the 1966 season.

Reds President William O. DeWitt also announced that coaches Mel Harder, Ray Shore, Whitey Wietelmann and Vern Benson were rehired for the 1967 season.

Bragan, 37, also will work with the Reds this winter in Clearwater, Fla. He has been a scout for the Reds since 1937, working mostly in the South. This will be his first major league coaching job.

Bragan played minor league baseball and managed Bluefield to the Appalachian League pennant in 1957.

Beginning in 1967, Penn State will renew its football rivalry with Navy.

Pro Grid Owners Chided by Solon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The high cost of signing players is a major reason why National and American Football League owners want to merge, says Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y.

"They are poor labor negotiators and are asking Congress to rescue them from their own ineptitude and folly," says Celler, chairman of the House antitrust subcommittee.

Passage of a bill exempting the merger from the antitrust laws is regarded as a certainty. But Celler, who had hoped to hold up the legislation until he could explore its consequences fully in public hearings, is going down fighting.

He said Tuesday he will try to eliminate the merger provision from an administration tax bill, to which the Senate added it in a maneuver to get around Celler. There was a possibility the bill would come up in the House today.

Celler said the hearings that were held made it clear the desire for a common draft that would end the bidding between leagues for star players was a powerful factor in launching the merger.

Celler said when the merger is given antitrust immunity, the owners will have virtually unlimited power over the players, who he said would have to play for the team that drafts them at the price offered or not play at all. And the players would have no safeguard against abuse, he said.

"This would not be permitted in any other business," he said. "Now when a player is abused, he may bring an action under the antitrust laws. After this bill is enacted he will have no direct and effective remedy. It is a shameful thing to do to any group of employees."

The Senate, which twice passed the bill unanimously, never held any hearings on it.

Celler said the senate action of forcing acceptance of the merger provision as part of an important tax bill, with no chance to consider it separately was "an affront to the deliberative process of Congress."

Local Hunters Successful in Tennessee

Jim Redman, Route 2, and Marion DeLong, Route 3, have returned from a successful hunting trip in Southeastern Tennessee.

Redman, using a bow and arrow, bagged a wild turkey gobbler and a bobcat. DeLong came home from the trip with a wild boar and a turkey.

The two local sportsmen took their wives along on the journey. Although Mrs. Redman and Mrs. DeLong did not hunt, they served as photographers.

It was Redman's second trip to the area. A year ago he returned with a wild boar and a turkey.

The area in which the two men hunted was just south of the Smokey Mountains near Wallard, Tenn.

BOW HUNT — Jim Redman and his wife, Agnes, pose with the 11-pound turkey gobbler bagged on a recent hunting expedition to Tennessee.

Renfro Poses Problem for Dallas Coach

CLEVELAND (AP) — It looks as if Mel Renfro is ready for duty when the Dallas Cowboys meet the Cleveland Browns here Sunday. This might pose a problem for Cowboys' Coach Tom Landry.

He has the choice between Renfro, who started the season as a running back, and Dan Reeves, who filled in when Renfro was injured. Reeves is the National Football League's leading scorer with 54 points.

A glance at NFL statistics, however, indicates Reeves is a short yardage expert to complement Don Perkins his running partner. Reeves isn't listed among the league's top rushers or receivers.

Renfro is the Cowboys' breakaway threat and the Browns have seen it first hand when Mel was a defensive back. He's one of the few men to catch Jim Brown from behind in an open field with Brown going full stride.

Renfro also is a darting target for quarterback Don Meredith, who already has flanker Bob Hayes to throw at.

Meredith is second among the NFL flingers, hitting 68 of 128 for quarterback Don Meredith, downs. The Browns' Frank Ryan is third with 77 of 135 and 10 touchdowns.

Unique Computer Eyed

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore & Ohio and Chesapeake & Ohio railroads will put into operation a computer system capable of pinpointing the locations of 150,000 freight cars on 11,000 miles of track.

The Radio Corp. of America is installing the system, which is to begin operation this year.

Jack Gainer, who succeeded the late Jimmy Pitt as trainer of thoroughbreds for Edgemoor Farm and Pleasant Hill Farm, played high school football as a fullback at Panama City, Fla.

Runners Feeling Effects Of Mexico City Altitude

MEXICO CITY (AP) — "My chest was so tight, I thought it was going to pop and spew my ribs on the track," said 17-year-old Billie Gaines of Mullica Hills, N.J.

"At first, I almost blacked out — my eyes got woozy — but I took some deep breaths and was all right," said Tommie Smith of Los Angeles.

Even the sprinters now claim they are feeling the effects of Mexico City's 1½-mile altitude in their tune-up for the 1968 Olympic Games.

Smith, stringbean world record holder in the 200 meters and 220 yards and Gaines, the amazing schoolboy from New Jersey, finished second and third, respectively, Tuesday to Cuba's veteran Enrique Figueroa in the 100-meter dash of the Little Olympics.

Both Figueroa and Smith were timed in 10.4 seconds, with Gaines one-tenth of a second behind.

Smith, who along with other members of the U.S. track and field team didn't check in until

Tuesday night, said he believed it would take at least two weeks at this altitude to get ready for the 100 and three weeks for any one running 400 and above.

The United States extended its medal lead when a dark horse, Neil Steinhilber, who was not even listed with the official U.S. squad, won the shot put with 51 feet, 5 inches (15.72 meters).

This gave the Americans a total of 19 golds, 12 silvers and one bronze compared with Russia's 13-11-9 ratio.

Valery Shorzkov of the Soviet Union won the high jump (2.12 meters, 6 feet, 11½ inches) and the Russians got a bronze in the 5,000 meters where Jurij Zurling finished third behind Colombia's Mohamed Gammoudi (14:20).

Poland scored a double when Ewa Klobukowska won the women's 100 meters (11.3) and Irena Kirszenstein the 200-meter dash (24.1). Other track and field titles went to Hilda Ramirez of Cuba, women's discus (39.58 meters, 129-10¼); Van Eyk Vos of Holland, women's 400 meters (1:45.7); and Roberto

Hero's Sons Have Game Ball, Purdue Key Shot at Big 10

NEW YORK (AP) — The Burke boys Frank Jr. and Chris have a new football, and thanks to their dad, Purdue has the best shot at the Big Ten's berth in the Rose Bowl.

Frank Jr., 2, and Chris, 9 months, got the ball last Saturday night, a few hours after Frank Sr. grabbed it and scored the touchdown that gave Purdue a 22-21 victory over Michigan.

And for grabbing the ball after blocking a punt, Frank Sr. was named College Football's Lineman of the Week by The Associated Press today.

"When I got home Saturday night, the ball was the first thing my boys got hold of," said Burke, a linebacker, who at 27 is the oldest member of the Purdue squad.

Because Michigan State is ineligible to return to the Rose Bowl, the winner of the Purdue-Michigan contest would be considered the leading contender for the postseason classic.

Some seven minutes remained in the game, and Michigan's Staa Kemp dropped back a couple of yards in the end zone to punt. Burke broke through the Wolverine pine at the snap.

"I kept charging," he explained, "then put my hand up in the air and blocked the kick."

The ball popped into the air, Burke outleaped the desperate Wolverines, pulled the ball in on the one and stepped gingerly into the end zone.

Burke, a 6-foot-1 215-pounder who played service football for three years in Germany, carried the ball off the field with him, surrendering it only to his sons when he returned to Lafayette, Ind., that night.

The unique 72-hole event, which pairs leading PGA guy and gal professionals on a best ball basis, gets under way Thursday over the par 35-3672 course.

Gardner Dickinson and Ruth Jensen are the defending champions and will team again in quest of $7,500 top money which the winners split.

Barber, a balding pro from San Antonio, Tex., had a 32-33-65 in the pro-amateur event Tuesday.

Clifford Ann Creed's individual 72 was low for the girls.

Views on TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "CBS Reports" is a carefully made documentary on prison and prisoners graphically illustrated changing concepts about punishment Tuesday night and forcefully revealed the face of crime.

The hour called "Men in Cages," was shot almost entirely inside federal, state and local prisons. These ranged from modern institutions where busy inmates learn useful trades to old-fashioned, over-crowded lock-ups where men are herded together with little or nothing to do.

The program's emphasis was on increased efforts to restore convicted men to society. It also underlined the dreary statistics of failure — three million Americans who have served prison terms and a current prison population of 350,000. Three-quarters of all crimes are committed by persons who have previously been arrested and convicted, it noted.

One man serving a long sentence said flatly that young prisoners should not be allowed to associate with older, more experienced criminals, "like me."

Roger Mudd, the narrator, repeatedly said that there is no evidence that imprisonment has proved a deterrent of crime but suggested that some men can be made useful members of society if given help — education, a vocation and a chance.

NBC obviously is very high on "Dragnet," the series that was so popular in the 1950s. Jack Webb has made a two-hour film called "Dragnet 66" so it won't be confused with the old series still around on reruns. It also has a new batch of the series in the works. It could replace at midseason one of two NBC series reported to be in serious ratings troubles.

Webb will be playing Joe Friday again, but his sidekick this time will be Harry Morgan, late of "Pete and Gladys," since Ben Alexander of the old series is busy playing a cop in ABC's "Felony Squad."

Raymond Burr was to have made his first television appearance since the demise of his long-playing "Perry Mason" series in an episode of "The Road West."

He was tossed from a horse in an early scene, however, receiving minor but painful injuries and Victor Jory replaced him.

Gillette and Sumiko Gillette, filed their petition against said defendants in the Court of Common Pleas of Pickaway County, Ohio, the same being Cause No. 24,632 in said Court for the cancellation of Land Contract and Quiet Title to certain real estate situated in the Village of Orient, County of Pickaway and State of Ohio, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the Northwest corner of Lot No. 21, thence North 66 feet; thence East 164 feet; thence South 66 feet; thence West 164 feet to the place of beginning and being 164 feet off the East end of the South side of Lot No. 20 in the Town of Morgan (now Orient) in Scioto Township, Pickaway County, Ohio.

The prayer of said petition is for the cancellation of land contract for sale of said real estate, to quiet title and for other equitable relief. Said defendants are required to answer said petition on the 12th day of November, 1966, or judgment will be taken against them.

Notre Dame, Spartans Both Crystal Ball Gazer Choice

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK (AP) — There were exactly 7,251 persons who picked all 15 winners in last week's football contest conducted by the New York Daily News. This forecaster had 47 correct picks among the 61 major college games played.

Here's hoping for improvement with this week's major predictions:

Michigan State over Purdue; Each had a rugged game last weekend but the game is being played in East Lansing and that should be enough to spur Michigan State to super efforts.

Notre Dame over Oklahoma: The Irish showed against North Carolina that they can gain on the ground, too, by unleashing Nick Eddy. That's too much for the rebuilding Oklahomans. Alabama over Vanderbilt: With ease.

Nebraska over Colorado: Unless the Buffalos are higher than their Rocky Mountain altitude. Bob Church continues to guide the Huskers toward their fourth straight Big Eight title.

UCLA over California: Mel Farr and Gary Beban too much for the Bears.

Dartmouth over Harvard: It is only midseason, but the Ivy League title likely will be decided in this one. Harvard is the surprise of the league.

Florida over Louisiana State: Steve Spurrier will win this one for Albert, the Alligator.

Baylor over Texas A&M: This could be the greatest aerial battle since World War II with the Aggies' Edd Hargett and Baylor's Terry Southall doing the flinging.

Arkansas over Wichita: By whatever score the Porkers wish.

Southern California over Clemson: The Trojan defense has allowed only 30 points this season, but the club willbewithout Don McCall, its ace running back this week.

Georgia Tech over Tulane: The New Orleans Greenies are on the way back but haven't progressed far enough to beat Tech.

Ohio State over Wisconsin, Kent State over Bowling Green, Kansas State over Cincinnati, Dayton over Northern Michigan, Miami, Ohio, over Ohio University, Western Michigan over Toledo, Chattanooga over Xavier.

Key Mid-Am Tilt Slated at Athens

By HAL PARIS
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Athens could be the site of the biggest Mid-American Conference football game of the year Saturday when unbeaten Miami battles resurgent Ohio University.

"It's a fairly big game, won't you say," quipped Miami Coach Bo Schembechler. But in a more serious vein, the Redskin mentor said:

"This is the key game of the year as far as we're concerned and I'm sure they feel the same way."

"We didn't show much against Marshall last week but we couldn't in that mud bath. I guarantee we'll be pulling out all the stops in this one."

Miami, 5-0 over-all and 3-0 in the conference, is generally regarded as the class team of the league. But Ohio, after a season-opening setback to Purdue, has swept aside four straight foes and can taste an upset.

Coach Bill Hess' Bobcats have a 2-0 Mid-Am record and will be bidding to atone for that 34-0 pasting at the hands of Miami a year ago.

"Ohio is more explosive than any club we've met this year," Schembechler noted. "Our scouts tell us the Bobcats will be the best team we've met so far. Neither of us is too big, but that fullback of theirs, Bob Hounard, makes a difference in the backfield."

Miami's brilliant defense, which has blanked the last two opponents and allowed only two touchdowns all season, should get a stern test.

"Ohio has a diversified attack. They try to lull you asleep with their fullback running and then let Ron DeLuca cut loose with the bomb," Schembechler said.

In other action this week, hard luck Kent (0-3) journeys to Bowling Green (1-1) and Toledo (1-2) visits hopeful Western Michigan (2-1). Marshall (1-4) is outside the league in a home encounter against Louisville (2-2) of the Missouri Valley Conference.

Miami holds a 24-17-1 advantage over Ohio in the long series and limited the Bobcats to only nine yards rushing in last year's tilt.

Bruce Matte, Miami's ace quarterback, is recovered from an elbow injury, and should be at peak efficiency for the crucial game.

"I would say we figure to open up and throw the ball more," Schembechler said.

Miami, boasting the nation's longest winning streak at 11, has seen its offense slowed to ries. The Redskins scored only 7 against Kent and 12 against Marshall compared to 73 points in their first three triumphs.

And the Skins have gained only 26 yards on three pass completions in the last two starts.

The Bobcats used a balanced attack in downing Xavier last week rushing for 101 yards and passing for another 143. Both clubs have yet to play Bowling Green while Miami must also face Toledo and Ohio has to tangle with Western.

Willie Davis Extra Good In Bear Tilt

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Davis does an all-pro job for Green Bay every Sunday afternoon but last week was something extra special. Something about playing the Chicago Bears seems to bring out the best in any Packer.

Rudy Bukich, having a mediocre year for the Bears, still had been thrown only once while trying to pass in four previous games. The Bears were proud of their pass blocking record. No more. Willie Davis plucked Bukich twice in one afternoon while the Pack rolled over the Bears 17-0.

While Willie was throwing himself over Bukich he was helping the Packers throw a blanket over speedy Gale Sayers, who was held to 29 yards in 5 carries.

"It was the finest defensive job I've ever seen since I've been playing in the league," veteran guard Leszy Thurston said.

"A great game," said Coach Vince Lombardi. "The kind of a game Willie gives you every week."

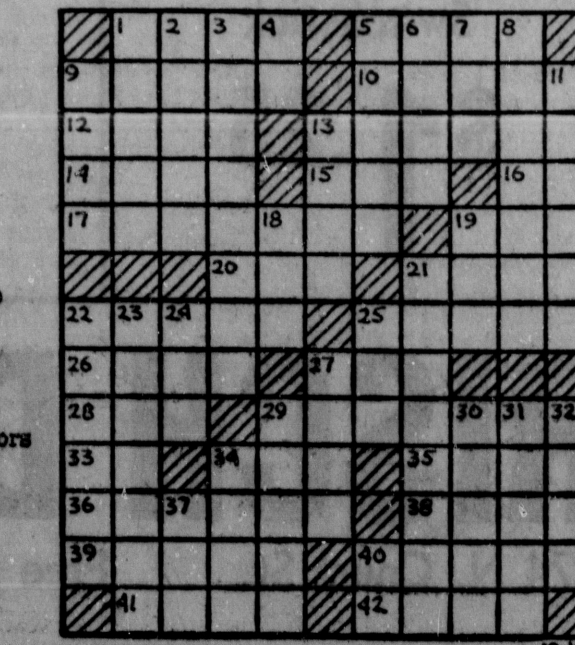

Davis has been named by The Associated Press as the Defensive player of the Week in the National Football League. Francis Tarkenton of the Minnesota Vikings was picked as the offensive star of the week.

Notre Dame, Spartans Both Crystal Ball Gazer Choice

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK (AP) — There were exactly 7,291 persons who picked all 15 winners in last week's football contest conducted by the New York Daily News. This forecaster had 47 correct picks among the 61 major college games played.

Here's hoping for improvement with this week's major predictions:

Michigan State over Purdue: Each had a rugged game last weekend but the game is being played in East Lansing and that should be enough to spur Michigan State to super efforts.

Notre Dame over Oklahoma: The Irish showed against North Carolina that they can gain on the ground, too, by unleashing Nick Eddy. That's too much for the rebuilding Oklahomans. Alabama over Vanderbilt: With ease.

Nebraska over Colorado: Unless the Buffaloes are higher than their Rocky Mountain altitude. Bob Churchich continues to guide the Huskers toward their fourth straight Big Eight title.

UCLA over California: Mel Farr and Gary Beban too much for the Bears.

Dartmouth over Harvard: It is only midseason, but the Ivy League title likely will be decided in this one. Harvard is the surprise of the league.

Florida over Louisiana State: Steve Spurrier will win this one for Albert, the Alligator. Baylor over Texas A&M: This could be the greatest aerial battle since World War II with the Aggies' Edd Hargett and Baylor's Terry Southall doing the flinging.

Arkansas over Wichita: By whatever score the Porkers wish.

Southern California over Clemson: The Trojan defense has allowed only 30 points this season, but the club willbewithout Don McCall, its ace running back this week.

Georgia Tech over Tulane: The New Orleans Greenies are on the way back but haven't progressed far enough to beat Tech.

Ohio State over Wisconsin, Kent State over Bowling Green, Kansas State over Cincinnati, Dayton over Northern Michigan, Miami, Ohio, over Ohio University, Western Michigan over Toledo, Chattanooga over Xavier.

Key Mid-Am Tilt Slated at Athens

By HAL PARIS
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Athens could be the site of the biggest Mid-American Conference football game of the year Saturday when unbeaten Miami battles resurgent Ohio University.

"It's a fairly big game, won't you say," quipped Miami Coach Bo Schembechler. But in a more serious vein, the Redskin mentor said:

"This is the key game of the year as far as we're concerned and I'm sure they feel the same way."

"We didn't show much against Marshall last week but we couldn't in that mud bath. I guarantee we'll be pulling out all the stops in this one."

Miami, 5-0 over-all and 3-0 in the conference, is generally regarded as the class team of the league. But Ohio, after a season-opening setback to Purdue, has swept aside four straight foes and can taste an upset.

Coach Bill Hess' Bobcats have a 2-0 Mid-Am record and will be bidding to atone for that 34-0 pasting at the hands of Miami a year ago.

"Ohio is more explosive than any club we've met this year," Schembechler noted. "Our scouts tell us the Bobcats will be the best team we've met so far. Neither of us is too big, but that fullback of theirs, Bob Houmard, makes a difference in the backfield."

Miami's brilliant defense, which has blanked the last two opponents and allowed only two touchdowns all season, should get a stern test.

"Ohio has a diversified attack. They try to lull you asleep with their fullback running and then let Ron DeLuca cut loose with the bomb," Schembechler said.

In other action this week, hard luck Kent (0-3) journeys to Bowling Green (1-1) and Toledo (1-2) visits hopeful Western Michigan (2-1). Marshall (1-4) is outside the league in a home encounter against Louisville (2-2) of the Missouri Valley Conference.

Miami holds a 24-17-1 advantage over Ohio in the long series and limited the Bobcats to only nine yards rushing in last years tilt.

Bruce Matte, Miami's ace quarterback, is recovered from an elbow injury, and should be at peak efficiency for the crucial game.

"I would say we figure to open up and throw the ball more," Schembechler said.

Miami, boasting the nation's longest winning streak at 11, has seen its offense slowed to ries. The Redskins scored only 7 against Kent and 12 against Marshall compared to 73 points in their first three triumphs.

And the Skins have gained only 26 yards on three pass completions in the last two starts.

The Bobcats used a balanced attack in downing Xavier last week rushing for 101 yards and passing for another 143. Both clubs have yet to play Bowling Green while Miami must also face Toledo and Ohio has to tangle with Western.

Willie Davis Extra Good In Bear Tilt

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Davis does an all-pro job for Green Bay every Sunday afternoon but last week was something extra special. Something about playing the Chicago Bears seems to bring out the best in any Packer.

Rudy Bukich, having a mediocre year for the Bears, still had been thrown only once while trying to pass in four previous games. The Bears were proud of their pass blocking record. No more. Willie Davis plucked Bukich twice in one afternoon while the Pack rolled over the Bears 17-0.

While Willie was throwing himself over Bukich he was helping the Packers throw a blanket over Speedy Gale Sayers, who was held to 29 yards in 15 carries.

"It was the finest defensive job I've ever seen since I've been playing in the league," veteran guard Leroy Thurston said.

"A great game," said Coach Vince Lombardi. "The kind of a game Willie gives you every week."

Davis has been named by The Associated Press as the Defensive player of the Week in the National Football League. Francis Tarkenton of the Minnesota Vikings was picked as the offensive star of the week.

But Strang isn't quite ready to throw in the towel.

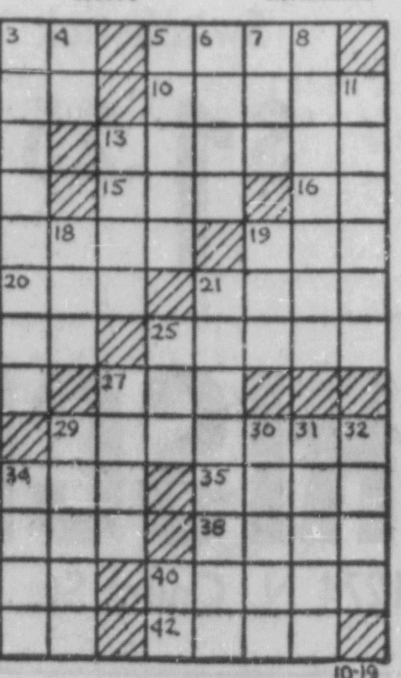

"If there's such a thing as the law of averages, things are going to start breaking our way one of these days."

Communist, South Viet Units Locked in Heavy Delta Fight

SAIGON South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist forces badly mauled South Vietnamese troops in a Mekong delta battle today as seven Cabinet resignations shook the government in Saigon.

About 1,500 government troops were locked in heavy but inconclusive fighting against an estimated 1,000 Viet Cong 105 miles southwest of Saigon. Viet Cong gunners shot down three U.S. Army Huey helicopters and damaged several others in the early stages of the battle, which started Tuesday.

Elsewhere, the general lull persisted in ground fighting. For the fourth straight day, monsoon rainstorms cut heavily into U.S. air blows over North Viet Nam Tuesday and American pilots flew only 44 bombing missions, about a quarter of the recent daily average.

The Cabinet resignations revived a government crisis brewing for two weeks which Ky had tried to put off until after the Manila conference on Viet Nam next week. Ky was further embarrassed because South Korean President Chung Hee Park is due Thursday on an official visit, and there were reports Park might postpone his visit to go direct to Qui Nhon, on the central coast, to visit Korean forces deployed there.

The Cabinet crisis is the result of long-standing resentment on the part of leaders from South Viet Nam at the domination of the government by natives of North Viet Nam, who include Ky and most of the generals who hold the government power.

The dissidents also charged there was widespread corruption in the government and that South Viet Nam was becoming a police state. Ky was said to have accepted the resignations but was reported trying to win three or four of the ministers back and to fill the other vacancies with new men.

Spokesman said the Mekong Delta battle was continuing today with heavy contact. He said government casualties were moderate, indicating the South Vietnamese force was hard hit by the outnumbered Viet Cong. After the U.S. helicopters supporting the South Vietnamese were hit, South Vietnamese Skyraider fighter-bombers were called in to bomb and strafe the vast marshland area long dominated by the Viet Cong.

Then U.S. Super Sabre jets joined the attack, and 38 allied planes raked the area.

U.S. B-52 bombers struck today at North Vietnamese base camps and assembly areas just south of the demilitarized zone in northernmost Quang Tri Province.

Pilots attacking North Viet Nam Tuesday flew about 150 individual sorties, well below the 400 to 500 sorties they were flying daily less than a week ago. Most of the targets were in the southern panhandle.

Pilots reported destroying or damaging 25 barges, eight anti-aircraft gun positions, eight trucks and nine storage areas.

The U.S. command reported that Viet Cong guerrillas attacked the command post of the 173rd Airborne Brigade Tuesday night with Claymore mines, small-arms fire and grenades. The command said the 15-minute attack caused light damage to equipment and aircraft and light casualties at the command post about 15 miles north of Saigon. The spokesman would not say how many aircraft were hit.

Radar Devices Are Suspended In Florida

Traffic Control Method Contested By Legal Official

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Highway Patrol suspended the use of all radar devices and air-to-ground surveillance today after Atty. Gen. Earl Faircloth said that traffic arrests with such "spy-in-the-sky" devices are probably illegal.

Faircloth, however, wants the law changed.

He said in an opinion Tuesday that no reasonable man can deny that use of airplanes, radar and electronic timers should be made legal.

He urged modifications of state law by the 1967 legislature "to moderate with police power the folly of those who use our highways without regard for their own safety or that of others."

Reid Clifton, deputy director of the Public Safety Department, curtailed the use of radar and electronic timers as well as airplanes after Faircloth's opinion.

The opinion held that information relayed to an arresting officer on the ground from a plane is "hearsay evidence" and doesn't measure up to Florida law, Faircloth said. He suggested the legislature make information obtained with such equipment prima facie evidence.

Crowds Small but Friendly At LBJ New Zealand Visit

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — President Johnson got a colorful but restrained welcome to New Zealand today after leaving American soil 8,000 miles from Washington in exotic Pago Pago, a South seas beauty spot never before visited by a U.S. chief executive.

Johnson's crowd in this capital city of New Zealand was quite small by campaign standards back home, numbering in the thousands rather than the tens of thousands. But the crowds were friendly and often enthusiastic.

For the President, the New Zealand stop represented an expression of friendship for a longtime U.S. ally and a return visit to a country where he spent some time as a Navy officer during World War II.

Pago Pago, in American Samoa, afforded Johnson an opportunity to call attention to a tiny island that he regards as a showplace or what can be done to boost the fortunes of a poor and rather primitive people.

By all odds, the Samoan stopover was the most colorful yet during the President's journey, which will take him to at least five more countries during the next 15 days.

The biggest crowd turned out Monday in Honolulu, where perhaps 200,000 people gave Johnson a warm sendoff on his Asian tour prospects for a "mission of hope" to meet with allies in the Viet Nam war and perching, peaceful Asia after the guns fall silent.

Along those showing up for the President's arrival motorcade in Wellington were several hundred critics of the war, waving placards expressing their dissent. At one point along the route they filled the block.

With wife Lady Bird at his side, Johnson first set foot in New Zealand at the Ohakea airport, 97 miles north of Wellington. After watching a colorful Maori ceremony there the President and the First Lady flew to the capital with Prime Minister and Mrs. Keith Holyoake.

There were the customary airport speeches and later conviviality and a round of toasts at a dinner and reception given by the governor general, Sir Bernard Fergusson, and Lady Fergusson.

Thursday Johnson will lay a wreath at a war memorial, meet with opposition leader Norman Kirk, who would like to unseat Holyoake in the Nov. 26 parliamentary election, and appear on television with Holyoake.

Then the Johnsons will be off to Australia for three days of visiting before flying to Manila for his Oct. 24-25 conference with leaders of six countries allied with the United States in the Viet Nam war.

In his arrival speech at Ohakea, the President recalled his last visit as a U.S. Navy officer in 1942 and said the United States and New Zealand then were "allied in a grim moment of history" and now in Viet Nam are allied in another "grim if small conflict."

He recalled his wartime association with New Zealand again at the Wellington airport an hour later, saying he had been seriously ill in Fiji and "it was New Zealand doctors who pulled me through."

In Pago Pago, the Johnsons were received by Samoan chiefs with the royal ava ceremony which — according to the script — required them to drink the bitter juice brewed from the root of the ava tree.

The President merely touched the cup to his lips, but Mrs. Johnson sipped most of hers, reporting later that it had "a slightly medicinal taste."

The Johnsons then drove into the junglelike countryside where she cut a ribbon of flowers to dedicate the Lady Bird School — one of a number of consolidated elementary schools being built on the island.

A feature of the island school system is educational television, and the Johnsons watched television classes in operation.

New Lawyers Hear Address

OHIO Supreme Court Judge Louis J. Schneider Jr., today gave the official address of welcome on behalf of the bench to a group of newly-inducted attorneys at a special session of the Supreme Court in Columbus.

Two Pickaway County residents who received their certificates to practice law and present at the sessions were Richard Lee Gerhard, 1111 Atwater Ave. and John Walter Noecker, Route 1, Ashville.

Judge Schneider told the new lawyers that "service to your individual clients is your paramount obligation."

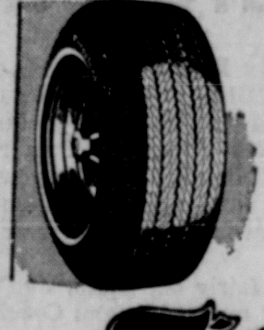

"But, to be true to the great heritage of the profession, you need to commit yourself to a wide cultural, social and political life, with a deep concern for the future of the free society in which we live," Judge Schneider said.

"More than any other segment of the public, lawyers have a sure understanding of the proper use of lawful criticism and the ultimate consequences to civil disobedience. No group has a greater appreciation that freedom under law involves a delicate balance between liberty and restraint. None is more sensitive to the uses and abuses of power, nor more competent to keep a healthy fear of power alive in the minds of their fellow citizens."

Chief Justice Kingsley A. Taft presided at the ceremony and Judge Paul W. Brown administered the oath of office.

He said in an opinion Tuesday that no reasonable man can deny that use of airplanes, radar and electronic timers should be made legal.

He urged modifications of state law by the 1967 legislature "to moderate with police power the folly of those who use our highways without regard for their own safety or that of others."

Reid Clifton, deputy director of the Public Safety Department, curtailed the use of radar and electronic timers as well as airplanes after Faircloth's opinion.

The opinion held that information relayed to an arresting officer on the ground from a plane is "hearsay evidence" and doesn't measure up to Florida law, Faircloth said. He suggested the legislature make information obtained with such equipment prima facie evidence.

Crowds Small but Friendly At LBJ New Zealand Visit

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — President Johnson got a colorful but restrained welcome to New Zealand today after leaving American soil 8,000 miles from Washington in exotic Pago Pago, a South seas beauty spot never before visited by a U.S. chief executive.

Johnson's crowd in this capital city of New Zealand was quite small by campaign standards back home, numbering in the thousands rather than the tens of thousands. But the crowds were friendly and often enthusiastic.

For the President, the New Zealand stop represented an expression of friendship for a longtime U.S. ally and a return visit to a country where he spent some time as a Navy officer during World War II.

Pago Pago, in American Samoa, afforded Johnson an opportunity to call attention to a tiny island that he regards as a showplace or what can be done to boost the fortunes of a poor and rather primitive people.

By all odds, the Samoan stop-over was the most colorful yet during the President's journey, which will take him to at least five more countries during the next 15 days.

The biggest crowd turned out Monday in Honolulu, where perhaps 200,000 people gave Johnson a warm sendoff on his Asian tour prospects for a "mission of hope" to meet with allies in the Viet Nam war and pering, peaceful Asia after the guns fall silent.

Along those showing up for the President's arrival motorcade in Wellington were several hundred critics of the war, waving placards expressing their dissent. At one point along the route they filled near block. With wife Lady Bird at his side, Johnson first set foot in New Zealand at the Ohakea air base 97 miles north of Wellington. After watching a colorful Maori ceremony there the President and the First Lady flew to the capital with Prime Minister and Mrs. Keith Holyoake.

There were the customary airport speeches and later conviviality and a round of toasts at a dinner and reception given by the governor general, Sir Bernard Fergusson, and Lady Fergusson.

Thursday Johnson will lay a wreath at a war memorial, meet with opposition leader Norman Kirk, who would like to unseat Holyoake in the Nov. 28 parliamentary election, and appear on television with Holyoake.

Then the Johnsons will be off to Australia for three days of visiting before flying to Manila for his Oct. 24-25 conference with leaders of six countries allied with the United States in the Viet Nam war.

In his arrival speech at Ohakea, the President recalled his last visit as a U.S. Navy officer in 1942 and said the United States and New Zealand then were "allied in a grim moment of history" and now in Viet Nam are allied in another "grim if small conflict."

He recalled his wartime association with New Zealand again at the Wellington airport an hour later, saying he had been seriously ill in Fiji and "it was New Zealand doctors who pulled me through."

In Pago Pago, the Johnsons were received by Samoan chiefs with the royal ava ceremony which — according to the script — required them to drink the bitter juice brewed from the root of the ava tree.

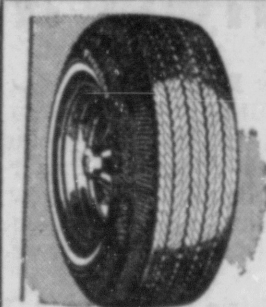

The President merely touched the cup to his lips, but Mrs. Johnson sipped most of hers, reporting later that it had "a slightly medicinal taste."

The Johnsons then drove into the junglelike countryside where she cut a ribbon of flowers to dedicate the Lady Bird School — one of a number of consolidated elementary schools being built on the island.

A feature of the island school system is educational television, and the Johnsons watched television classes in operation.

BOSS SAYS HE IS "TERRIFIC"—Born blind, Rudy Salazar, 25, is a tune-up specialist at an auto agency in Antioch, Calif., and his boss says he's "terrific." Rudy uses mostly standard tools, but has adapted some to his own requirements. One is a meter with the glass removed so he can use a finger to take the compression reading of an engine. He also uses a special torque wrench that clicks when being set and buzzes when the proper torque is attained.
